Government Cannot Aid Georgia Tobacco Growers

GROUP IS NAMED FOR CONFERENCE WITH CAROLINIANS

Dr. Bomberger Suggests
Only Help Now Possible
Is From Co-operatives in South Carolina.

SUPPLY MARKET IS YEAR AHEAD

Official Figures Show
That Average for Bright
Leaf Is Nearly 50 Per Cent Less Than in 1929.

While Dr. J. B. Bomberger, of the co-operative marketing division of the federal farm board, was in Savannah in conference with tobacco growers from many points in south Georgia, better prices were in evidence. The result of the Savannah meeting was a decision to name a committee of five to confer with co-operatives in South Carolina in an effort to discover some means of tying up with them and obtaining relief from the present depressing situation in the tobacco belt.

Just how disastrous the first week of tobacco sales in Georgia proved to be is reflected in the season's first official figures as announced by the state bureau of markets. These figures show that sales at 57 of the 59 warehouses in the bright leaf tobacco belt last week totaled 18,750,607 pounds at an average price of 10.58 cents per pound at a cash value of $1,985,490.66. This compares with 19,550 in 1929 and 22,699 in 1928, the state bureau of markets announced today in the first official figures on the market for the season.

COMMITTEE TO CONFER WITH FLORENCE CO-OPS.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 4.—(P)—Upon recommendation of Dr. J. B. Bomberger, assistant chief of the division of co-operative marketing of the federal farm board, tobacco growers from many points in south Georgia, meeting here Monday, decided to appoint a committee of five to confer with the South Carolina co-operatives, located in Florence, S. C., to find out if Georgia tobacco growers could hitch up with them and obtain some relief from the present depressing situation in this state.

There were more than 100 growers and businessmen at the meeting. This action followed the advice from Dr. Bomberger that the federal farm board was without authority to grant relief through a co-operative marketing organization designed for this purpose. Dr. Bomberger said that the Georgia tobacco growers should organize and not depend upon a yearly market condition which afforded so much uncertainty from year to year. The farm board has no authority to use the state bureau of markets.

Lack of Organization Bars Help.

The farm board appreciates the gravity of the situation, Dr. Bomberger, regarding the marketing of the 1930 crop and is sympathetic with the growers who are the sufferers. The Georgia-Florida tobacco situation is a desperate one, Dr. Bomberger said, and he declared, so far as assistance from the farm board is concerned, by reason of the fact that there is no organization of tobacco growers in this territory complying with the requirements of the agricultural marketing act.

Mrs. Marshall Field Gets Huge Alimony

RENO, Nev., Aug. 4.—(P)—Mrs. Evelyn Marshall Field, daughter of the late Charles H. Marshall, of New York, was granted a secret divorce from Marshall Field, III, this afternoon.

The complaint was filed secretly under number this morning and the case was heard behind closed doors in District Judge George A. Bartlett's chambers. So much secrecy was attached to the hearing that Mrs. Field, accompanied by attorneys, entered the court's chamber by ascending the rear stairs from the main courthouse corridor.

All papers in the case have been sealed, but it is generally understood that she charged her millionaire husband with desertion. While attorneys refused to discuss the nature of the property settlement and agreement, it is reliably reported that she will receive in the neighborhood of $1,000,000 per year.

COUNCIL UPHOLDS CUT IN ICE PRICE

Recommendations That Reduction to 50c Be Made Are Passed.

Recommendation that the price of ice be cut from 60 cents to 50 cents a hundred pounds was adopted Monday afternoon by city council in accepting the report of a special ice price investigating committee headed by Councilman Ellis B. Barrett, of the thirteenth ward. The report gave special deliveries of ice as one of the reasons for the recent hike from 40 to 60 cents, and recommended that the ice firms be allowed to charge a reasonable fee for such deliveries.

Arthur B. Pope, general manager of the Atlantic Ice and Coal Company, said that the ice companies have their prices figured to the last penny for which they can produce and sell their product, and that he would not care to comment further until he has seen a copy of the report of the committee.

Councilman Barrett said that while the ice companies have not indicated a reduction, he is of the opinion the price will be reduced in the near future.

The committee reported that it found no evidence of collusion by the different companies in raising the price, and, according to records submitted by the companies, they show an operating loss for the past number of months.

The committee felt that the companies should be privileged to charge a reasonable delivery charge on special orders by telephone or deliveries made other than on the regular daily route.

The committee agreed that cost of delivery was one of the contributing causes in bringing about the rise in price. The report said that if the ice companies are forced to weigh each piece of ice delivered to the consumers it will materially increase the cost of delivery from what it now is, and the committee therefore recommended that all ice delivery trucks or wagons be equipped with some standard scale, so that the consumer desiring the ice purchased to be weighed, the driver could weigh the ice on request.

The report suggested that the committee did not believe the ordinance requiring ice companies to weigh ice at the time of each sale should be placed into effect, and therefore recommended that the ordinance be repealed.

The report requested of the ice companies that the small peddlers be given square and fair treatment at all times.

Use of Fireworks Urged in Battle Against Martins

While city council Monday afternoon was pretty much evading the purple martin issue by passing the buck to the parks department, W. E. Minter, of 1046 Oakdale road, apparently an expert on martin control, was coming forward with a scheme which he claims to be well-nigh infallible.

Mr. Minter's plan—and he vouches for its effectiveness—is to gather together a group of boys still in the firecracker age, supply them with roman candles and have them fire several rounds into the martin-infested trees just after sundown. After four or five treatments it will dawn on the birds that their presence is not desired and they will hire to other parts, he said.

Mr. Minter declared that five years ago he weathered a purple martin siege in Huntington, W. Va., where the pesky birds made the nights hideous until pyrotechnics were injected into the affair.

Discussion of the martin problem in council started with the reading of a letter from Earl R. Greene, president of the Atlanta Bird Club, who pointed out that the purple martin seems a destroyer of insects, and that it would be a calamity to drive them from Atlanta.

Alderman R. F. Pennington, of the first ward, and Claude L. Ashley, of the fourth, appeared on the floor of council to champion the Capitol avenue invasion, the former going so far as to invite the birds to move from their present location to his own neighborhood.

After much discussion the problem was referred to the parks committee for a solution in an effort to relieve Capitol avenue residents, who have offered to sacrifice their trees rather than endure the ceaseless noise, which seems to be one of the martin's outstanding characteristics.

Lack of Rain Becomes Major Economic Disaster Throughout Central States.

BY FREDERICK C. OTHMAN,
United News Staff Correspondent.
CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Heat and drouth reached the proportion of an economic disaster in the central states tonight.

Crops were ruined, water supplies depleted, livestock killed and still the mercury stuck fast near the top of the thermometer. Temperatures which have remained near the 100 mark for the past several weeks were credited with the death of some 200 persons. Damage to crops was estimated at $400,000,000.

Deaths in August already have mounted to three score. The brassy sun hourly is crumpling thousands of dollars worth of growing plants.

Whole counties of wheat and corn in the "bread-basket" states were baked brown. Corn suffered so severely that in many cases it sold for higher prices than did wheat on the nation's grain markets.

So severe was the dry spell in southern Illinois and eastern Missouri that scores of farmers could find no water for the suffering livestock. Hundreds of head of cattle were slaughtered. Other farmers, hauled water for miles by automobile.

Bee keepers even were hard hit. Their buzzing charges, unable to find blossoms, remained in their hives and consumed the honey which had been stored for the winter.

Quit Watering.
Residents were ordered to quit watering lawns in Chevy Chase, Md. Those whose grass plots looked green were regarded as "scoundrels."

Authorities asked housewives not to do their washing today in Gettysburg, Pa., because the city's water supply was near exhaustion.

Cotton crops in Texas and Oklahoma were in worse condition than for years. A plague of grasshoppers, reported advancing on the border from the state of Chihuahua, Mexico, made the situation more serious.

Sweltering travelers today in the south said the insects were in such a thick cloud that they obscured the sun, made telegraph lines look like thick ropes and impeded railroad travel by smashing on the rails so that engine wheels could not obtain traction.

The advance guard of the hoppers made their way into El Paso, Texas, where governmental crop experts were making plans to combat them.

Streams, rivers and wells throughout the whole Midwest became dusty. Fish were reported dying by the thousands in stagnant lakes of actually hot water.

The Mississippi river was so shallow that even light draft barges stalled on sand bars along the river's brackish reaches. Nothing but prolonged rains will bring the river stage even part way back to normal, said governmental experts.

Life Slows.
Tempo of life in the nation's great cities became comparable to that in the tropics when the sun softened asphalt pavements and turned sidewalks into frying pans.

Chicago's squalid West Madison street recorded a tragic sight when pups in a pet store window were driven mad by the heat beating through the plate glass. They fought among themselves.

Atlantans Establish New Outboard Mark

A new world's outboard motor endurance record of 240 hours was established early Monday night when Atlanta boys, Joe Logan and M. L. Trammell, at Lakewood park. The former record of 239 hours was established two weeks ago in Cleveland, Ohio.

With the new mark set, the pilots are determined to carry on as long as the motor continues to function. It was "pulling" hard early Monday but after penetrating oil was mixed with the gasoline, the power plant loosened up considerably, it was said.

Logan and his assistant began their run at 5:30 o'clock on the afternoon of Friday, July 25. J. J. Hardgreve, who started as assistant to Logan, was taken from the boat Sunday on advice of a physician. Trammell took his place Sunday night and will continue the test.

Miss New Orleans

GALVESTON, Texas, Aug. 4.—(P)—Miss New Orleans, Dorothy Dell Goff, a blonde, tonight was chosen Miss United States of America by judges at the international pageant of pulchritude. Tomorrow night she will contest with seven foreign contestants for the title of "beauty queen of the universe."

CANDIDATES QUICK TO GIVE CARSWELL ANSWER ON DEBTS

Holder, Perry and Russell Submit Their Plans for Solving Financial Problems of State.

BY FRANCIS W. CLARKE.

The challenge published Sunday throughout the state from George H. Carswell, gubernatorial candidate, to his opponents to submit plans for the remedying of the state's financial condition, met quick response Monday from Richard B. Russell, Jr., John N. Holder and J. A. Perry. E. D. Rivers, the only other candidate in the race, was not in Atlanta, and no statement was issued by his headquarters, in the absence of Stephens G. Miller, manager of Senator Rivers' campaign.

Carswell in his statement Sunday advocated reallocating for a period of one year all automobile license tag income from the highway board, to which it now goes, to the payment of back due appropriations, and called upon the other candidates for governor to either support his plan or present definite plans of their own.

In the statements issued Monday, Holder declares he would meet the deficit in the state's finances by holding down expenses, readjusting the present income and sales taxes and going after intangible property for taxes; Russell advocates anticipating the rentals of the Western and Atlantic and Henry Grady hotel properties of the state to the extent necessary to pay up all debts, after ascertaining the amount which will be raised by the income and sales taxes; and Perry announces his confidence of being able to place the state on its financial feet, just as Colonel Tate did the highway board, adding that he would make public the details of his plan in his speech at Athens Wednesday night.

World Readjust Taxes.
Mr. Holder issued his statement in Savannah, where he spent the day in conference with supporters.

"The present deficit," he declared, "including obligations to school teachers, pensioners, university branches, state sanitariums and other institutions, may be met by holding down appropriations and readjusting the present income and sales taxes, and going after taxes on intangible properties, such as notes, stocks, bonds, etc."

Mr. Perry in a speech at Dallas Monday expressed the opinion that it was possible for the state's finances to be balanced. He said:

"To solve the state's financial problem, I advocate the diversion of all non-present deficits to the payment of ordinary use to the payment of the state's debts and back due obligations. Appropriations must be cut down, expenses must be decreased, and the state must live within its income. Colonel Tate put the highway department on its financial feet; I will do so much for the state as a whole. I will specify my plan in my address in Athens Wednesday night."

An announcement of Russell's position was in a statement given in Atlanta. In opposing taking away

Bookkeeper Fails Burglars, Saves Primrose's Cash

A couple of the city's most adept young yeggs blew the safe in the offices of the Primrose Cleaners Saturday night, it being the second visit of such gentry to the offices in 30 days.

Investigating detectives Sunday sought out Sidney Goldstein, president of the company.

"There must have been $800 or $1,000 in the safe," Mr. Goldstein reported. "We usually have that much around on Saturday."

So the detectives went off, hoping to locate the burglars who might be foolish to flash a bankroll.

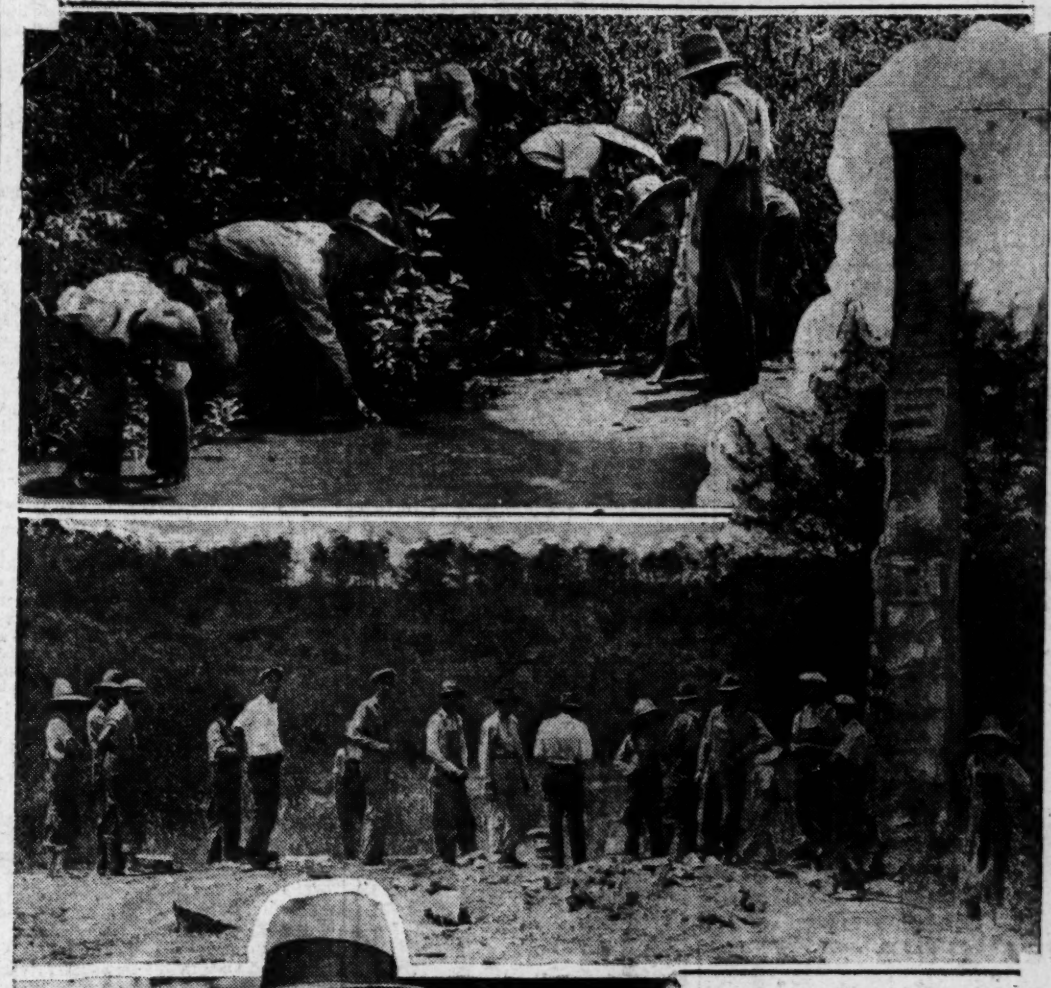

Monday morning Mr. Goldstein was bemoaning his loss when H. Schaefer, bookkeeper, arrived, proceeded to open the safe and place therein an apparently well-filled money bag.

"What's that?" inquired Mr. Goldstein.

"Saturday's receipts," responded Mr. Schaefer. "I see by this morning's paper that as a bookkeeper I'm a good burglar."

Two-Day Hunt Fails To Give Single Clue To Identity of Torch Murder Victim

Sheriff To Request Large Reward for Information. Bootleg War Theory Offered by Officer.

BY L. A. FARRELL,
Staff Correspondent.

LOGANVILLE, Ga., Aug. 4.—Who slew whom and why, was the question which tonight still baffled Walton county officers almost 48 hours after an unidentified man was shot and beaten to death in the badlands of Miller Bottoms, two miles west of here and his body cremated in the burning of an abandoned farmhouse where it was dragged from the swamp country after the murder.

After spending the entire day in the bottoms in a futile search for clues to the identity of the torch murder victim, Sheriff Mart Riley and his chief deputy, L. C. Shumate, returned to the county seat at Monroe tonight with the announcement that tomorrow they would request a special meeting of the Walton board of county commissioners to ask the commissioners to post a reward of $1,000 to anyone offering information leading to the identity of the murder victim and a solution of the mysterious slaying.

Sheriff Riley and Deputy Sheriff Shumate, who made a general investigation of the killing Sunday, came back to Miller Bottoms today to "explore" the murder only to find that it had been reported by the killers, so much so that the authorities have no nearer solution of the crime than they were when the charred beyond recognition body of the victim was discovered after daybreak Sunday.

Having checked with the police in every small town surrounding and finding that no one reported missing, Riley and Shumate tonight called on the original belief that the victim of the murder is an Atlanta bootlegger, slain as the result of a liquor feud. Sheriff Riley late today, however, recalled that several years ago a gigantic motor theft ring operated out of the bottoms and that in 1928 more than 40 motor cars were found parked in the swamps. As a result of this breaking up of this ring the sheriff said several men were given prison terms and added that the slaying Sunday morning might be an outgrowth of trouble which started between members of the ring when they were arrested.

"The theory that the murder was the result of a bootleg war sounds the most plausible to me," Sheriff Riley said. "We have known for some time that bootleggers were running liquor from here to Atlanta and with our meager force have made desperate efforts to break up their activities with varying success. However, it is certain that there are many still secreted in this territory and unless one knows where they are they are almost impossible to locate."

Aided by a large number of farmers and citizens of this place, Riley and Shumate went over the swamp country thoroughly this morning but the only thing established definitely is that the victim was a white man not yet having approached middle age. Several strands of dark brown hair were found entangled in a barbed wire fence leading through the swamps; indicating that the victim had been dragged through the fence after he was killed and taken to the abandoned farmhouse which a short time later became his funeral pyre. That five or six men were par-

MILICAN'S RIGHT TO ACT DISPUTED

Attorney Rules Mayor
Pro Tem. Must Serve
Unless Ill or Away.

A flurry in council over the right of Alderman G. Everett Millican, provisional mayor pro tem., to act as mayor while Alderman J. Allen Couch, mayor pro tem., is in the city and in good health resulted in a draw with nothing much, if anything, definitely settled, except that Alderman Couch is leaving today on his vacation and Alderman Millican will be in full charge of the reins of the office.

Mayor Ragadale left recently for a rest, and Alderman Couch requested Alderman Millican to act as mayor, following this, on surplus money crops, such as cotton. Vegetables and live stock for the farmer and his family and grain and other crops for the farmers' live stock will be counted as the necessary food crops.

Team work for the improvement of agriculture in Georgia will be undertaken jointly by the banks and the state college about September 1. The plan of action is to subdivide the state into four districts and to subdivide each of the four districts into four sections, with district and section chairmen representing the interests of the banks and with district and county farm and home demonstration agents representing the State College of Agriculture. Both of these interests, welded together with a common purpose, are calculated to promote a system of farming that will

COMMITTEE TO HEAR CASE OF M'LENDON

J. Frank Beck, G. Dan
Bridges and C. H. Sims
Elected to Vacancies
Caused by Resignations.

Three borough aldermen, five councilmen, one city physician and the superintendent of parks resigned Monday, as the result of indictments in the municipal probe of graft in city hall affairs.

General council accepted the resignations of its members and the city physician while the parks committee of council announced its acceptance of the parks superintendent's resignation.

Council immediately elected three new members to fill vacancies created when indicted men stepped down and, with a view to his impeachment, appointed a committee to hear the case of Councilman W. Chester McLendon, of the second ward, who, with Alderman J. Allen Couch of the fifth ward, and Councilman W. Paul Carpenter, of the ninth, were the only members of general council who did not hand in their resignations.

Resignations were accepted from Alderman O. H. Williamson, ninth ward; Alderman C. E. Buchanan, eighth ward; Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon, second ward; Councilman J. W. Rountree, third ward; Councilman C. L. Chosewood, third ward; Alderman W. Guy Dobbs, seventh ward; Councilman J. T. Osburn, seventh ward, all effective immediately; Councilman J. C. Hardy, sixth ward, effective September 1; and Dr. S. D. Warnock, city physician, effective August 15. Resignation of Park Superintendent L. L. Wallis was reported by the park committee.

Beck Succeeds Reynolds.
J. Frank Beck, who was nominated in the last primary to succeed Councilman Frank Reynolds from the eighth ward, on January 1, was elected alderman from the eighth ward for the remainder of Buchanan's term.

Beck was nominated by Councilman J. L. Wells, of the eighth ward.

Dan Bridges, nominee for council from the third ward, was elected to succeed Councilman Chosewood. Bridges was nominated by Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward.

C. H. Sims was elected to succeed McCutcheon as councilman from the second ward. Sims was nominated by Alderman P. L. Moon, of the second ward. Beck, Bridges and Sims were

'High Society Blues' On Empire Program

Capacity audiences greeted the return to an Atlanta screen of Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell in the Fox Movietone hit, "The Society Blues," at the Empire theater, corner of Georgia avenue and Crew street, Monday. Even larger audiences are expected for the final showings of this musical romance today. There is no more charming couple in pictures than the winsome Miss Gaynor and the handsome Farrell, and given the proper vehicle, such as "High Society Blues," they present superlative entertainment. Both stars, and through their own accompaniment on the ukuleles. The supporting cast includes William Collier, Sr., Joyce Compton, Louise Fazenda and Lucien Littlefield.

Six Brown brothers are also among the strongest weaknesses—on the stage—but the three-reel comedy and the stage show seemed the best part of the program at the Capitol this week. Maybe most of you will like the feature, "The Sea Bat," better than this reviewer, but personally the story seemed to lack something and the close didn't carry the punch we have been taught to expect. Raquel Torres, Charles Bickford, George Marion, Nils Asther are all in the cast and do good work. The photography is gorgeous and the struggles with the giant rays, most dangerous of all monsters of the deep to win their infinite delight, that is missing "something" still there is necessary to make a picture great. But as for Laurel and Hardy—"The Laurel and Hardy Murder Case" is the funniest thing they have ever done—which is as strong a statement as counsel can make in the matter. There were times, Monday afternoon, when you could almost see the roof of the Capitol lift on the billows of laughter roaring up.

The stage show is the best in weeks. Tom Brown and his five brothers are as funny as ever with their saxophones. This is one of those acts of which seem "age cannot wither nor custom stale their infinite delights." Don't forget to applaud at the end, by the way, because the best number the Will was ever Monday afternoon. I'll pay to "bring 'em back" at every performance. Flo Lewis is an exceedingly clever character comedienne. It took her five minutes to get to the top of the department. Especially note the Peacock dance by the girl. And Tom Wilson has one of those "comedian" tenors that you can listen to by the hour. It is not to be forgotten that Walter Sheets, orchestra conductor, has a splendid overture built around the program for next week—"All Quiet on the Western Front."

Newspaper Story On Cameo Screen

"Young Man of Manhattan" the feature at the Cameo show Tuesday is based on the Saturday Evening Post serial and best-selling novel by Katharine Brush. The principal characters, Claudette Colbert as Ann Douglas, Norma Macdonald as Mrs. Van der Meer, Betty Compton as Betty Compton—despite a face and a figure which bring quite definitely on the side of virtue—is nevertheless a spy in the Wilhelmstrasse while Ralph Forbes is, to all appearances, just a good-looking and perfectly proper English officer with whom Miss Compton was having congenial in the halcyon days before the war.

Beautifully Staged Production at Fox

"Hell's Island," featuring Ralph Graves, Jack Holt and Dorothy Sebastian, the feature picture at the Fox theater this week, presents the two heroes of "Submarine" and "Flight" in roles not similar to those two pictures but that still proclaim these two as buddies until the woman comes into the plot. Then comes a bitter feud, filled with misunderstandings, broods and pictures that still proclaim these two as buddies until the woman comes into the plot. "Inside the Lines," at the Metropolitan is a story of the World War in which we spared a glimpse of Paris on the night after the armistice was signed. This in itself is a great recommendation. As the story unfolds we are shocked and greatly disappointed to learn that Betty Compton—despite a face and a figure which bring quite definitely on the side of virtue—is nevertheless a spy in the Wilhelmstrasse while Ralph Forbes is, to all appearances, just a good-looking and perfectly proper English officer with whom Miss Compton was having congenial in the halcyon days before the war.

But endless complications arise: we begin to see Forbes himself in a sinister light, and just when it seems to us that everyone in the picture is slightly villainous, the atmosphere suddenly clears and we discover that Miss Compton is not a German spy at all but a member of the British intelligence service (a denouement which completely vindicates the face and figure) while Mr. Forbes belongs to the secret service; two branches of government apparently which, in dear old England, don't see much of each other in a business way but only in a social way when it comes to a shot of the British fleet lying, presumably, at the foot of Gibraltar, is breath-taking in its beauty and worth all the rest of the picture as far as we are concerned. And the added attraction is Mack Sennett's "Match Play" with Leo Diegel and Walter Hagen sinking all the puts rather noticeably failed to sink when they met Bobby Jones at Interlachen.

At Keith's Georgia

"QUEEN HIGH," with Charles Ruggles, Ginger Rogers, Stanley Smith, etc. News reel and short subjects. Feature starts at 1:15, 4:15, 7:00 and 9:50 p. m. Vaudeville starts at 3:00, 6:00 and 8:30 p. m.

You folks all remember Charles Ruggles. The funny little fellow who, in "Gentlemen of the Press," told Kay Francis, "Come up to my apartment and fight for your honor." Well, Charles is at Keith's Georgia this week with the delightful Ginger Rogers, and boy, what a team they make!

The picture is "Queen High," and it is concerned with a contract between two business partners that the winner in a poker game becomes the butler and servant of the winner, who is to keep on running the business. Charles Ruggles, with that same flair for fun-making that caught on magnificently in the newspaper picture, proves to the audience that the movie folks were wise when they gave him more important work to do.

Ginger, with that personality plus voice of hers, puts over several numbers in a style you'll like. Charles himself reveals that he has a singing voice that is not to be despised. The tunes are catchy and at the right places in the film.

The stage show is pep and go from the start to the finish. The billings are in "Cello Brothers," a dance routine; Alphonse Berg, a rapid fire dress maker; Bob Hope, a funny feller, and Tom Webb and his entertainers, with a May day pep and pretty orchestra leader. The tempo of the show is fast, the gags are good, the girls are easy to look at, and the "boys" are clever.

Four States Vote In Primaries Today

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(UN)—Voters in Kansas, Missouri, Virginia and West Virginia are prepared to go to primary polls tomorrow to select party candidates for the November election.

Carswell Says Plan Similar to Col. Tate's

DUBLIN, Ga., Aug. 4.—(Special).—George H. Carswell, candidate for governor, said today that the plan suggested by him for the paying of the back due appropriations of the state was the same method adopted by Colonel Sam Tate in getting the highway board out of debt.

"Georgia's finances face a crisis that might as well be admitted by everybody, including the candidates for governor," Mr. Carswell said. "and it is time some one suggested a plan of relief. I believe that by holding down the state's expenses and revising the income and sales tax laws we can pay off the deficit and do so without crippling the highway program."

Mr. Carswell outlined his plan briefly, saying it provides taking the income received from the sale of automobile tags and applying it to the unpaid appropriations. He said the sum thus derived as being approximately five millions of dollars.

The candidate pointed out that the highway board had used the same method in the liquidation of its debts. "In 1920 when there was a

any of its present income from the highway department, he said: "The state can pay what it owes to the old soldiers and the various institutions without stopping highway construction or revising the question of a bond issue. The overhead cost of government can be greatly reduced and by the time the next administration takes place we will be able to determine the amount raised by the new tax legislation. The amount of the present indebtedness which cannot be paid out of the income from the new taxes could be met by anticipating the rentals of the Western and Atlantic and Henry Gray hotel rentals."

Hardman Pleaded

Judge R. N. Hardman, campaign manager for Carswell, Monday issued a statement in which he said that reports received from all parts of the state indicated that the suggestion to reallocate the license tag income to government could have been reduced and by the time the next administration takes place we will be able to determine the amount raised by the new tax legislation. The amount of the present indebtedness which cannot be paid out of the income from the new taxes could be met by anticipating the rentals of the Western and Atlantic and Henry Gray hotel rentals."

Tax Money Diversion Is Favored by Perry

DALLAS, Ga., Aug. 4.—(Special).—James A. Perry, speaking here today at the noon recess of court, defended his record as chairman of the public service commission which had been attacked by George Carswell and R. B. Russell, opposing candidates. Mr. Perry said:

"Both George Carswell and Mr. Russell complain of the date set by the public service commission for the proposed revision of wholesale power rates set for September 16. This hearing and the proposed revision are but a part of a program started 18 months ago and having for its purpose the downward revision of power and light rates; first for the duties incident to the governor's office, then for the duties of the commercial light and retail power consumers and now to wholesale users of power. Those acquainted with such matters know that we have acted as speedily as has been humanly possible."

"The facts are that neither Russell or Carswell know any more about rate revisions than they know about the duties incident to the governor's office. Their criticism is typical of the cheap politics they always play, and it is quite natural that they should both have the same thought on a highly technical subject of which both are totally ignorant. "For some time I have been advocating the diversion of all tax money that can be legally diverted from ordinary state expenses to the highway fund. This has been the subject of much discussion and debate. Appropriations must be cut down, expenses must be decreased, the state must live within its income. Colonel Tate put the highway department in a financial strait; I will do as much for the state as a whole."

Holder Says Taxes Should Be Readjusted

SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 4.—(AP).—John N. Holder, candidate for governor, issued the following statement here today:

"I note that George H. Carswell, chief advisor of the present administration and administration candidate for governor, realizes that the people hold him jointly responsible for the deplorable financial condition of the state and now proposes to divert the income of the automobile taxes for the highway department, its financial straits, to the highway fund. "That would be robbing Peter to pay Paul."

"To divert from the general treasury that amount would take away from the state highway department approximately one-third of its 1931 income. Such a diversion would severely cripple the highway program, greatly delay the construction of many important highways."

"Under the present law, the state highway department is maintained through money from state tag taxes and the tag tax department also is maintained from it. If once diverted it is always lost."

"I propose in all my speeches to state that the present deficit, including obligations to school teachers, pensions, university branches, state sanitariums and other institutions, be paid by holding down appropriations and readjusting the present income and sales tax, and going after taxes on intangible properties, such as notes, stocks, bonds, etc."

"Under Mr. Carswell's plan, no relief whatever could be had until January 1932, because the legislature of 1931 would have to vote the highway and by then taxes for the 1931 tags would have been expended."

"Mr. Carswell and some of his strongest supporters are the most persistent advocates of the big highway bond issue, his plan would really cripple the highway construction program and give bond advocates an excuse to begin agitating again for a bond issue."

"From numerous sources has come the suggestion that the Western and Atlantic railroad rentals be discounted to pay off the state's debt."

"While I prefer this latter plan and would favor it to meet the emergency if necessary, I believe that by holding down the state's expenses and revising the income and sales tax laws we can pay off the deficit and do so without crippling the highway program."

Best Known Way To Heal Toe Itch

This condition of the feet, cracked skin between and around the toes; inflammation and severe itching; wet blisters and burning, is now known to be caused by a germ, or fungus growth.

The only way to get relief is to kill the germ. Tetterine, which can do in from 24 to 72 hours, with a pleasant, odorless, delightful-to-use ointment, known as "Tetterine."

Tetterine is almost infallible in bringing prompt and comforting relief in these distressing conditions of the feet, and it may be had at any drug store for 60c, with a guarantee of perfect relief or money refunded. (adv.)

change in the chairmanship of the road board, when federal funds had been stopped because of the debts of the board, all contract letting was stopped and over a period of nine months there was no contract let for a single mile of new road work in the state. It took nearly a year to pay off the five-million-dollar indebtedness and contract letting started again, but not until after all the past due bills were paid.

"Instead of completely paralyzing the road work now as was done then, my plan still allows enough money to build hundreds of miles of roads, if efficiently spent."

Speaks at Eastman

EASTMAN, Ga., Aug. 4.—(Special).—George H. Carswell, candidate for governor, lectured at the courthouse at 3 o'clock at the close of the day's session of superior court. Mr. Carswell stated the plan meant that the license tag income would be used to pay off the state's debt, which two of his opponents helped to create, would be paid without crippling any department of the state.

"The Western and Atlantic funds have already been used until 1936, and the income from the mansion site property in Atlanta—$20,000 a year, would feed the inmates at the asylum but a short time, much less aiding much toward liquidating these debts."

Hardman-Carswell Attacked by Rivers

ROME, Ga., Aug. 4.—(Special).—For four years the people of Georgia have been without knowledge of what is going on in the state capital due to a rigid censorship imposed by Governor Hardman and George Carswell, his political henchman, E. D. Rivers, candidate for governor, declared here Monday night.

"Under the strict censorship imposed by the Hardman-Carswell administration to mask their political intrigues, the people of Georgia have no means whatever of learning what goes on in the affairs of this state," said Mr. Rivers.

"The gentlemen of the press are accused representatives of the people. In their contact with the chief executive, they offer the quickest, surest medium of expression through which the honest citizen can communicate to the people his policies, actions and plans. From earliest days, recognition of this principle by the press has been evidenced in frequent conferences with the newspapers."

"Yet I find, upon investigation, that the White House which is the state capital are denied admittance to the governor's office. Not only from Atlanta papers, but from out-of-town dailies and the Associated Press. They are forced to depend for their news items upon statements issued at long intervals by the governor. It developed that frequently periods up to three months' duration have elapsed during which none of these gentlemen had even seen the governor, much less questioned him on behalf of the people. Do you take my word; ask the newspapers."

"Such practices indicate a degree of secrecy, a virtual muzzling of the press for the people, and are a legitimate reason. If the president of this country recognizes the right of the people to know through the columns of the press what is going forward in affairs of the state, then the governor of Georgia has no right to withhold similar information from the citizens of this state."

Aged Man Slugged And Robbed of $100

Frank Beal, 65, of 198 Ponce de Leon avenue, was knocked down and robbed of $100 Monday night by two negroes who attacked him as he climbed the steps to his apartment, located on the local floor of the building. Beal stated to Call Officers Jack Wingate and L. E. Rutledge that he found the negroes lying in wait for him after he returned from a drive in his car. Mrs. F. G. Quisenberry, occupant of a neighboring apartment, said she saw a negro follow Beal into the building and afterwards run out across the lawn.

A second hold-up reported at about the same hour involved M. D. Taylor, operator of a grocery store at 694 Auburn avenue, who was held up by two negroes and robbed of $200. Taylor gave a description of the bandits to Call Officers Tom Glover and John Hood.

At the Rialto

"PARADISE ISLAND," with Marceline Day, Tom Santeini, etc. News reel and short subjects. Feature starts at 11:30, 1:00, 3:00, 5:00, 7:00 and 9:00.

South Sea Island romance and South Sea Island music constitute the major offering on the Rialto bill for the week and both are entertaining.

One white woman on an island peopled with the dark-skinned, taking a tramp steamer from the states to redeem an otherwise good chap gone to sea, is the theme of the story. It has enough of the orient; in it to remind you, although vastly different in detail, of "White Cargo."

How well she succeeds in the life of the picture. Her betrothed is coddled into "snapping out of it" and making a go of a job big enough for the husband of a determined and ambitious woman.

There is a short news reel and a technical of the South Sea Island featuring some of the most familiar songs. Larry Semon is in a comedy which is labeled "The Voice of Hollywood."

SLUSH FUND CHARGE DENIED BY SLATON

Compares Conduct of His Campaign With That of Senator Harris.

In a radio talk Monday night, former Governor John M. Slaton replied to "slush fund" charges of Senator W. J. Harris, whom he is opposing for re-election, by comparing the expenses of his campaign with those of Harris.

He sharply criticized Senator Harris for using his government frank to send out campaign literature.

In discussing his subject, which he announced as "Harris, High Taxes and Hard Times," he reviewed the various attacks he has made on Senator Harris' record in the senate and wound up by predicting that he would meet the same fate as other senators who have been defeated throughout the country this year.

In discussing campaign expenses, he said:

"Before discussing the subject, 'Harris, High Taxes and Hard Times,' I wish to reply to the charge of Senator Harris that I am spending large sums in an attempt to buy seats in the United States senate. I would not have that office or any other if I had to buy it."

"I have a campaign headquarters in the Kimball House. Senator Harris has a campaign headquarters in the Kimball hotel. I have presented my candidacy to the people in newspaper advertisements and have paid for them at the regular rates. Senator Harris has presented his candidacy in newspaper advertisements and has asked the newspapers to publish them at reduced rates on the ground that he is a poor man. Yet I have before me a letter signed by him in which he states that his family have 'large property interests.'

"I have sent letters and campaign literature through the mail direct to voters. I have paid for the stationery, paid for the printing, and paid for the postage, also paid the salaries of the clerical force at headquarters. Senator Harris has sent letters and campaign literature through the mail direct to voters. He has asked the newspapers to publish them at reduced rates on the ground that he is a poor man. Yet I have before me a letter signed by him in which he states that his family have 'large property interests.'

"There is now a deficit of $50,000,000 in the postoffice department. The post office is threatened to increase the postage rates. A great newspaper recently pointed out that increased rates would not be necessary if the flagrant abuse of the franking privilege were stopped."

Governor Slaton then reviewed the charges he has previously made that Senator Harris has constantly endeavored to increase the expenses of the national government and failed to speak against the recently enacted tariff bill.

He concluded his radio speech by declaring:

"The simple fact is that Senator Harris has been so long in Washington that conditions in Georgia are remote from his mind. He occupies a suite of offices in a palatial building. He rides back and forth to the senate chamber in private elevators and along a private underground railway. He has drawn a quarter of a million dollars in salary and clerical allowance. He goes to France at the government's expense and his eyes are dazzled by the beauty and splendor of the Palace of Versailles. Forgetting that the king who built that palace with taxation wrung from an oppressed people, was beheaded with a guillotine, Senator Harris comes back to Washington and votes for an appropriation of $115,000,000 to erect a group of buildings of similar splendor."

"Illinois recently voted on one of her senators, Mr. Denen, and retired him. Pennsylvania did the same with Senator Grundy. North Carolina did the same with Senator Simmons. Now comes the turn of Senator Harris in Georgia. Those who are satisfied with conditions will vote to return him for another six years of unbridled extravagance."

Carswell Stresses Need of Education

EASTMAN, Ga., Aug. 4.—George H. Carswell, candidate for governor, spoke here Monday afternoon. He promised if elected governor to do more for the schools of the state, and laid special stress on the need of educating the children. He spoke of the flagrant tax system, the highways, and other reforms so badly needed.

Mincey Flogging and Death Condemned by Mass Meeting

Thousand Citizens, White and Black, Pass Drastic Resolutions Assailing Robed, Hood Murderers.

MT. VERNON, Ga., Aug. 4.—In a mass meeting attended by a thousand or more Montgomery county citizens, both white and black, indignation at the ruthless killing of S. S. Mincey, well-known negro citizen, at Alley Tuesday morning, was fully voiced. L. C. Underwood, chairman and W. A. Peterson, secretary.

Dr. J. W. Palmer stated the purpose of the meeting and paid tribute to the honesty of the deceased negro and his value as a leader of his people.

Spirited talks were made by Colonel A. L. Lanier, ex-Senator J. M. D. McGregory and M. B. Calhoun, former Representative Hugh Peterson, Rev. L. W. Walker, of the Methodist church, and Rev. L. S. Barrett, of the Baptist church, and Solicitor M. H. Boyer.

W. M. Lewis, B. H. Grace and Wimberly Brown, of the Toombs County Bar Association, expressed the sentiment of their county, which has also felt the effects of hooded mobs in recent years. The meeting lasted an hour, and was filled with interest throughout.

Resolutions Adopted by Rising Vote. The following resolution was adopted by a unanimous rising vote: "Whereas, in recent years a number of horrible crimes have been committed within the bounds of Montgomery county, or upon citizens of this county forcibly taken to an adjoining county by masked bodies of white men; and whereas, the perpetrators of such despicable and cowardly acts, under cover of darkness and their identity unknown, have gone without apprehension or punishment, to the indignation of an outraged citizenship; and

"Whereas, in the early morning of July 29 this county again suffered an unpardonable shock to civil right and justice, when S. S. Mincey, a colored citizen, was by a masked band of white men dealt a fatal blow in his home, forcibly taken to an adjoining county to death in an unmerciful and heinous manner, and this without provocation, and unwarranted by any rule of civilization; the murder of this citizen has but forged another link in the chain of violence; it is a tendency toward anarchy and a reign of terror which, if not summarily checked by a righteous citizenry, will soon render this county unsafe and unfit for citizenship of character and decency; it is a blot on civilization, a blow to American constitutional rights, and an unsavory record abhorred by the law-abiding element of Montgomery county.

Demand That Officers Act. "Be it resolved, by the citizens of Montgomery county, Georgia, in mass meeting assembled, that the citizens of said county, August 4, 1930, that their unqualified condemnation of this and similar acts of violence, contrary to law, human instincts and social order, be expressed in a demand for more direct and definite action by officers of the law charged with the apprehension of criminals and the courts responsible for the administration of justice and the punishment of those so flagrantly defying the law of the land, in the support of which efforts are hereby openly and freely pledged, that crimes of this nature may be stamped out and a higher and unquestioned standard of citizenship be raised in this section of Georgia.

GEORGIA FARMERS TOLD TO HOLD THEIR CORN

Commissioner Talmadge Predicts Cereal Will Go to $1 Per Bushel.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 4.—(P)—Eugene Talmadge, state commissioner of agriculture, said here Monday that Georgia's corn crop is a good one, but he knows of no advanced farmers to hold their corn for higher prices.

"Corn was bringing 42 cents per bushel at the close of last week," Commissioner Talmadge said, "and by fall it should be bringing a dollar."

"South Georgia has the best corn crop in the state," he said, "and the drought that has affected north Georgia and the west does not seem to have injured this section and the south Georgia farmers should be glad to sell their corn when the demand comes in the fall."

The commissioner deplored the low prices offered for tobacco and expressed the opinion that if some means is not taken to bring the price above the cost of production the tobacco warehouses should be closed.

Mr. Talmadge had with him samples of tobacco which he obtained from the Vidalia warehouse this morning. He said tobacco was selling there at 8 cents today, compared to last year's price of 19 cents.

CONSTANTLY INDICTED FOR SLAYING BROTHER

SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 4.—(P)—Savannah county grand jury Monday returned 20 true bills of indictment against one being that of murder charged against Mike Constantine for the slaying of his brother, Jim Constantine, on the night of July 29.

The indictment was returned after a preliminary police testimony showed, from an argument about an automobile, that Constantine was shot in the abdomen and died a few hours later.

Other indictments included one charging D. E. Harjo with intent to murder and burglary, arising from an attempt to rob the downtown office of the American Railway Express Company several weeks ago. As to William Ayre, alias William Early, and Mrs. Daisy Ayre, alias Mrs. Daisy Early, the grand jury returned no bills, they having been in custody for the same alleged offenses as accessories. Harjo is charged with breaking through the wall partition between a vacant store and the express office and of firing a pistol at a pursuing policeman when he fled after discovery. Harjo is wanted by Atlanta police on a charge of burglary, information of this fact having been given Savannah police after his arrest here.

BROTHER SLAIN IN FAMILY ROW

GREENVILLE, Ga., Aug. 4.—Paul Corley is dead here and Reuben Corley, his brother, is in jail charged with murder, as a result of a shooting affray that occurred at their father's farm near Avalon last Thursday.

According to officers who investigated the case, Paul was jealous of Reuben and when the latter is said to have tried to force his attentions upon Paul's wife, trouble started.

Reuben says that Paul drew a knife and tried to stab him, whereupon Reuben shot his brother.

W. C. Owen, justice of the peace, who took a dying statement from Paul, was told that he had no knife. Reuben was released from the jail on a charge of murder, as a result of a shooting affray that occurred at their father's farm near Avalon last Thursday.

Corley, questioned by authorities, said he fired in self-defense when his brother, under the influence of liquor, advanced upon him with a knife.

J. C. Corley, the father of the two men, said the shooting took place during a quarrel over alleged undue familiarity between Reuben and Paul's wife.

Reuben, however, refuted his father's statement. He said that he and Paul quarreled over some liquor and that they were working on a peach farm at Gay, near here.

FATHER GIVES LIFE TO SAVE HIS SON

COLUMBUS, Ga., Aug. 4.—(P)—Charles Hall, 28, was drowned at Bridge Island in the Indian River near here Monday in the effort to save his 8-year-old son, William, from the same death.

Hall was fishing at his camp on the island when the boy went into the water, where the weight of his clothing is believed to have dragged him down after he reached the swift current.

Barney Hall, a cousin, witnessed the drowning. Efforts were being made late today to locate the boy.

State Deaths and Funerals

MRS. QUEEN BELFLOWER. EMPRIE, Ga., Aug. 4.—Mrs. Queen Belflower died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry Taylor, at Emprie, Ga., Monday morning. She was 70 years of age. LEAP FROM TRUCK FATAL TO FARMER

NORCROSS, Ga., Aug. 4.—Ben Hayes, Milton county farmer, was fatally injured early Monday when a truck carrying a load of corn crashed into a ditch near here. He died en route to a hospital in Atlanta.

Police reported that Hayes was a passenger in a truck driven by Guy Finley, and carrying a load of corn to Atlanta. The truck approached the ditch and the driver, who was not seen, jumped out of the truck and ran.

Hayes is said to have leaped from the truck the instant before it crashed into the ditch. The driver and several other persons remained on the truck and escaped injury.

Hayes was rushed to Atlanta in a private ambulance, but died on the way.

FLOYD COUNTY BOARD URGESTHROUGH PROBE

ROME, Ga., Aug. 4.—Answering criticisms of recent grand jury findings of the Floyd county board of roads and revenues has addressed an open letter to the July term grand jury, now engaged in an investigation of the board's affairs.

The board members expressed their willingness to appear before the grand jury at any time and explain their conduct of the county's affairs. All county employees have been ordered to hold themselves ready to go before the jury and explain the conduct of their affairs, the board said.

The letter asked an exhaustive investigation by the grand jury of all the records of the board, as well as the conduct of the members.

The letter quotes six recommendations of recent grand jury in respect to the county's affairs, and says the recommendations have not been ignored, but have been given "serious consideration."

The board's letter takes up each recommendation and goes into detail in explaining why the members did not see fit to accept the grand jury's recommendations.

The subjects covered were county bookkeeping, a change in form of government, abolishment of the chain gang, employment of a purchasing agent, employment of a superintendent of public works, and contracts with the state highway department.

The letter was signed by O. N. Richardson, C. A. Todd, John E. Spauld, J. P. Morris and Homer Davis.

12-YEAR-OLD CHILD DROWNED AT ROBERTA

ROBERTA, Ga., Aug. 4.—(P)—Allen Moody, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Moody, was drowned in a small pool near Roberta, Ga., Monday morning at a late hour Sunday afternoon.

Accompanied by a younger brother he had gone to a small pool for a swim, got beyond his depth and sank. The brother became frantic and ran a half mile to get aid. He found Will Moody, who accompanied the boy to the scene and recovered the body. All efforts to resuscitate Allen failed. He then brought the body here and physicians continued the work, but with no avail.

Besides his parents the boy is survived by several brothers and sisters and his grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. John Moody, of Roberta, were elected warden to succeed J. W. Brooks, Jr., who was killed in the same accident with Mr. Lord. Mr. Bridges has been deputy warden a number of years and is well qualified for the position.

COLUMBUS DRY AGENT INDICTED IN KILLING

W. K. Johnson, Jr., Again Faces Murder Charge in Death of Ray Rodgers.

COLUMBUS, Ga., Aug. 4.—(P)—The Muscogee county grand jury Monday indicted W. K. Johnson, Jr., federal prohibition agent, for the murder of Ray Rodgers, 20, who was shot to death by the officer while delivering a gallon of whisky to George Mosley, an undercover agent.

The slaying of Rodgers occurred on the night of July 25, when he, in company with Eunice Johnson, Columbus girl, drove their car into the yard of the Mosley home. Johnson claimed the gun was accidentally discharged during a struggle for possession of the weapon between the federal agent, Rodgers and the girl. Mrs. Johnson said the firing was not an accident.

At a preliminary hearing a few days after the shooting Recorder Arthur Lynch dismissed a murder warrant against Johnson sworn out by Chief of Police M. D. Gill. At the hearing Mosley corroborated the version of the killing as told by Johnson.

The investigation before the grand jury Monday was conducted by Solicitor-General A. Jones Perryman at the request of young Rodgers' parents.

Others indicted included Willie Battle, negro, charged with murder in connection with the fatal shooting of his wife several weeks ago; Ella May Fleming, negro, charged with murder in connection with the slaying of Levy Mitchell, negro, several weeks ago near Flat Rock, and J. A. Strickland and S. C. Chestnut, charged with arson in connection with an alleged attempt to burn a garage.

Fifteen true bills were returned today. It was announced that investigations probably would be continued tomorrow.

STATE'S FINANCIAL SYSTEMS TO BE STUDIED TODAY

MACON, Ga., Aug. 4.—(P)—Several state officials will join a group of Georgia businessmen at the Hotel Dempsey at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning for a conference on the "ills of the state's financial system" and to suggest to the legislature remedies for its taxation troubles.

Miller S. Bell, Milledgeville banker, and friends throughout the state are the idea for such a conference and Mr. Bell issued a call for the meeting last Saturday. R. C. Norman, state tax commissioner, and a number of businessmen arrived here late tonight to attend the meeting.

Professor Harley L. Lutz, Princeton University economics instructor, who is making a survey of the state's financial needs; Sam Slater, ex-state auditor, and W. B. Harrison, comptroller-general, are to speak. Governor L. G. Hardman has been invited. O. A. Park, attorney and taxation authority and other Macon citizens, have indicated their interest in the meeting.

Mr. Bell will preside. An organization suggesting improvement in the financial system will be formed and plans will be made for future efforts to get such changes through the legislature, it was announced. A committee to recommend taxing and budgeting methods will be appointed. The state is facing a deficit of more than $5,000,000 which it will not be able to pay with revenues under the present methods of taxation, it was said. Leaders in the reform movement say taxes are "measures put through by compromise," in words of Mr. Park.

METHODIST MEETING HELD IN MIDVILLE

MIDVILLE, Ga., Aug. 4.—The third quarterly conference of the Midville Methodist church was held here Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Reports submitted showed the finances of the church to be in good shape, considering the summer depression. The election of officers was made by the pastor, Rev. Geo. W. L. Partin. Nine young people, members of the Midville Methodist church, attended college last year.

During the morning a sermon was preached by Rev. J. O. J. Taylor, of Dublin, presiding elder of the Dublin district. At noon a barbecue and basket dinner was served.

ATTEMPT S MADE TO SLAY LEROY SPIERS

ARBEVILLE, Ga., Aug. 4.—(P)—While stooping over a fireplace to build a fire Sunday morning at 1 o'clock, Leroy Spiers, residing on the farm of W. C. Oliver, five miles west of here, was shot with a shotgun, fired by some one outside the building.

Spiers had been away and had just returned. His would-be assassin fired through an open window and then fled.

Spiers was brought here where a physician picked out the bird shot in his face and arm. He will recover. The victim said that he knew of no motive for the shooting, nor could he give any information leading to an arrest.

A shooting occurred in the same house where John Clements killed himself on July 4.

KING MURDER CASE MAY BE TRIED AUG. 12

COLUMBUS, Ga., Aug. 4.—(P)—Solicitor General A. Jones Perryman announced Monday that he intends to set the murder case of Mrs. Olive S. Allen, charged with the slaying of Anthony B. King, secretary of the Columbus Elks Lodge, for trial on Tuesday, August 12.

King, secretary of the lodge for 20 years, was found unconscious on the floor of his private apartment in the Elks home on the morning of July 11. He died a short time later, an autopsy revealing he died from fractured skull.

Warren and Kent Indicted For Murder of Aged Widow

Naming of Molony Successor Delayed

SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 4.—(P)—Molony as president of the various short lines of the Central of Georgia, it was not named immediately, it was announced today.

President Clift, of the company, is away and when he returns the matter will be taken up with the various boards of the short lines. Until then the various executives of the short lines will administer their affairs.

Mr. Molony died Saturday.

SAVANNAH MERCHANT COMMITS SUICIDE

SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 4.—(P)—Meyer Wolfe Tenenbaum, 30, local merchant, died Monday night from a bullet wound self-inflicted, with a .22-caliber pistol. The bullet entered the skull in the back of his head. The pistol was found beside him. Police investigated and reported suicide.

Friends and relatives were with him in his store in West Broad street when he excused himself. A moment or two later a noise was heard which he thought was the backfire of an automobile, but upon looking for him they found him in the yard in the rear of the store, unconscious. He died less than two hours after the deed. He is survived by his parents, three brothers and a sister. The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon. He was in the general merchandise business and popular.

Anti-Aircraft Gun Sight Is Invented By Benning Officers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Two army officers at Fort Benning, Major Leonard R. Boyd and Lieutenant Joseph L. Greene, are given credit for the invention of a new machine gun anti-aircraft sight, according to an announcement made by the war department today.

It was also stated that tentative regulations governing training methods with the use of the sight have been issued to infantry regiments, for exhaustive tests and recommendations as to its efficiency. The Boyd-Greene sight is said to be simply constructed and apparently rugged enough to withstand service in the field.

MAN SHOT TO DEATH NEAR DAWSONVILLE

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Aug. 4.—Charlie Wilson, 23, was shot and killed Sunday by John Conner, 47, at the home of Conner, 12 miles north of Dawsonville.

Wilson is said to have been drinking and attacked Conner, and when he refused to leave Conner's house, Conner shot in self-defense. He immediately started to give himself up and was met by Sheriff Crawford, who placed him in jail in Dawsonville. Dawson superior court is in session this week and Conner is expected to be tried during the term.

Wilson is a son of John Wilson, of Lumpkin county, and the body was carried to Aurora for interment Monday.

A HARD STUDY—Study to be quiet, and to do your own business, and to work with your own hands. That is the way to success, and that is the way to failure. That is the way to success, and that is the way to failure. That is the way to success, and that is the way to failure.

PRAYER—"Take time to be holy. Speak oft with thy Lord."

THE ONE REAL ISSUE.

How are the debts of the state to be paid and the people's business restored to a solvent basis?

THERE IS NO OTHER PUBLIC ISSUE IN THE PENDING CAMPAIGN FOR GOVERNOR AND GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

All else is personal and unimportant to the people at large.

An increasing deficit is expected to reach at least $8,000,000 by January 1 next. That is no campaign roorback, but an officially calculated estimate. The money is owing to unpaid school teachers over the state, to public institutions in poignant need of current funds and credit, and to aged, invalid and suffering Confederate pensioners whose daily wants are pathetic and pitiable. The situation is unprecedented in all the state's history. It must not continue, but must be cured at the earliest day possible.

The people of the state want to know who has a possible workable plan to pay those debts, rescue the state's good name, and put their business on a strictly and maintainable business basis.

It is to the answering of that demand that each of the candidates for governor should address themselves. The public is showing no interest in their personal slambang at each other over things done or undone in other times. "What is writ, is writ," and will butter no bread and pay no debts that are due.

From all quarters comes the main question: Who knows where and how to get the cash money to pay $8,000,000 of back debts and run the state's business in the future without making more debts?

No man should claim his fitness to be governor until he can present a definite and closely calculated plan—a workable plan—to effect those ends.

One candidate would cut out of the highway construction funds for one year only enough of its allocated special taxes to pay the past due debts, leaving an operable road construction of about $14,000,000 for the year. That is a definite plan to shift revenues from one purpose to another and fill out an emergency.

Another offers a discount of future Western & Atlantic railway and other state property rentals to cover the deficits and cutting down of state offices' and expenses, enough to economize future appropriations. Unfortunately, the Western & Atlantic rentals are already pledged up to 1936. The report of the comptroller general shows this status:

"In order to meet obligations due to Confederate soldiers and their widows for pensions due and unpaid for the years 1922, 1923, 1924 and 1925, the legislature at the extraordinary session in March, 1926, authorized and directed the governor to discount the rental of the state road for a period of eight years. In pursuance of this law the governor in May, 1926, discounted the annual rental beginning with 1928 and including 1935, receiving therefor the sum of $3,189,355, the cost of the discount being $1,150,615."

Manifestly the candidate suggesting the rentals discount plan will need to revise and explain it further.

Now let each candidate carefully figure and present his plan of meeting and solving the deficit situation. Where is the money to come from to fulfill his promise to the people that "the debts shall be paid?"

To figure out a feasible plan and argue it to the creditors of the state and the humiliated public will take much campaign time that is now given wholly to charging and counter-charging between the candidates. The people want information on the one big issue of the debts, and not to be bored with campaign chaff.

WE WILL SOON SEE.

A. P. Brantley, south Georgia business leader, holds that the low prices offering for Georgia tobacco are largely due to the refusal of its growers to properly grade and tie their product before offering it on the warehouse floors for sale.

Today we produce the opinion of J. C. Roberson, of this city, who claims 17 years' experience, and corroborates the opinion of Mr. Brantley. There is wide debate between growers and buyers over the question of grading and tying of tobacco leaf, and it is likely to be won by the one side or the other after demonstrative experience.

Soon the North Carolina, Virginia and east Tennessee bright tobacco crops will be on sale and because the general practice in those states is to tie and prior grade each tobacco offering, the prices that will be obtained in those markets compared with those now ruling for the Georgia crop will go far to settle the contention.

If the prices offered for the tied and graded crops in North Carolina and Tennessee are no better than those now offered in Georgia, our tobacco growers will be authorized to believe that tying and grading are unnecessary trouble and expense to them.

If, on the other hand, uniformly better prices are given to those growers who grade and tie, the Georgia growers will either have to adopt the grade and tie practice, or consent to sell their crops at whatever market price is offered to them, "take it or leave it."

It will be instructive to keep a sharp and studious eye upon the Carolina and Tennessee tobacco sales of the next few weeks to discover what lesson they hold for Georgia growers.

ADVANCING ON ATLANTA.

Another strong testimony to the growing position of Atlanta as the chief distributing center of the southeast is the arrival of the key employees of the John Reed Company, of Chicago, a large mail order corporation. It is establishing its executive offices and depots in this city to serve promptly a swelling clientele in the southeastern states and will employ some 500 persons in handling its business.

Proximity to purchases and concentration of packaging and shipping the individual order of thousands of daily patrons have induced the John Reed Company, as it has many other businesses, to come to Atlanta. The radius of communication and quick transit from here covers a wide field and an enormous population particularly given to mail order merchandising.

The growth of Atlanta as the central market of the southeast has been rapid and recognized by the commercial actaries of the decades of the present century. That growth is going on daily and the results of it are visible in the expanding business areas of the city itself, the new factories and processing establishments, and the constantly growing volume of car loadings, postal and express orders, and domestic check clearances originating in the "Atlanta trade area."

When the general depression now existing, but gradually lifting, is overcome there are intimations that Atlanta will be one of the first cities of the south to feel relief from the pressure and receive new and valuable accessions to her commerce and industries.

Mears, the would-be round-the-world aviator, is still alive, and lots of his predecessors can't say that. They are among the "since unheard from."

That Woodcock in charge of prohibition will soon be on the wing to find out what he is in charge of and where.

Al Capone went back to Chicago. Now his enemies are fewer and their funerals gorgeous.

Henry Ford thinks more people should go on the farm. What for?

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

Parliamentary Language.

There appeared a poster on the walls of Paris not long ago showing M. Leon Blum, leader of the socialist group in parliament, in the guise of a huge snake which was attempting to charm and hypnotize the well-known figure of M. Herriot and other democrats. To compare one's political adversaries with wild or domestic animals may be of a rather doubtful taste, yet the practice, it appears, is by no means the specialty of the politicians and statesmen of any single country. Didn't Mr. Lloyd George, several equally successful references may be gleaned. Calling a member of parliament a bird of evil augur was a commonplace. An Irish deputy, Mr. O'Connell, once qualified, a colleague of his in the commons, member for the county of Mayo, as "a young serpent." "That reptile," Mr. Burke's indication of a member, was another "parliamentary" epithet. Joseph Chamberlain (on the occasion called Sir Henry Drummond) "wrote" and Lord Randolph, not to be outdone, referred in full session of the house to the Duke of Devonshire as "that bo constrictor."

Flanders Mourns.

The Flemish nationalist papers and magazines appeared in their recent issues with front pages shrouded in mourning.

When official Belgium commemorated the centenary of its independence, was a state in which the world was gradually coming to believe that all is lovely and happy in that country.

While Belgium rejoiced, Flanders mourned. For reason, that the greatness of Belgium means the death of Flanders. The rebellion of 1830, which tore the southern Netherlands from the north, was staged, Napoleon unsettled a new state had been created. In this state were a few million Flemings, Dutch-speaking Walloons. The state was called the United Kingdom of the Netherlands. The Walloons were not in the state in which they were in the minority. They looked to France. They hoped for the day when they would be reunited with their motherland. Aided and abetted by powerful French interests, they worked for a revision of the arrangement that had lumped them into the new state. In 1830, they staged a rebellion. Their intention was to break away and join France. The rebellion was a failure until a French army came to their aid. Before this support forced the king to recognize the north Netherlands and submitted the question to the powers. The powers, fearing that the power of France might be augmented to a point where it would disturb the European balance, did not permit the Walloon provinces to join their mother country. Again a new state was created. Its name was Belgium. Dutch-speaking provinces were added to this state to round out a kingdom. And so the Flemings were separated from their brethren. But France, on the other side, supported her kindred. The result was a hundred years of systematic uprooting of Flemish culture and character. The Flemings were to be made French. The Teutonic element was to be eradicated from the new state. Officially, Belgium, even now hardly more than a French vassal state, rejoiced over its 100 years' success in this undertaking. And whatever was consciously Flemish in outlook and character and culture mourned over a century of national disintegration.

Warm Weather.

The heat wave which beat down upon a American continent a few weeks ago has leisurely crossed the Atlantic and is now giving the folk Europeans a taste of what it feels like to be something like a sausage in the sun.

What is writ, is writ," and will butter no bread and pay no debts that are due.

From all quarters comes the main question: Who knows where and how to get the cash money to pay $8,000,000 of back debts and run the state's business in the future without making more debts?

No man should claim his fitness to be governor until he can present a definite and closely calculated plan—a workable plan—to effect those ends.

One candidate would cut out of the highway construction funds for one year only enough of its allocated special taxes to pay the past due debts, leaving an operable road construction of about $14,000,000 for the year. That is a definite plan to shift revenues from one purpose to another and fill out an emergency.

Another offers a discount of future Western & Atlantic railway and other state property rentals to cover the deficits and cutting down of state offices' and expenses, enough to economize future appropriations. Unfortunately, the Western & Atlantic rentals are already pledged up to 1936. The report of the comptroller general shows this status:

"In order to meet obligations due to Confederate soldiers and their widows for pensions due and unpaid for the years 1922, 1923, 1924 and 1925, the legislature at the extraordinary session in March, 1926, authorized and directed the governor to discount the rental of the state road for a period of eight years. In pursuance of this law the governor in May, 1926, discounted the annual rental beginning with 1928 and including 1935, receiving therefor the sum of $3,189,355, the cost of the discount being $1,150,615."

Manifestly the candidate suggesting the rentals discount plan will

The Honest Way for the Parties To Settle the Prohibition Issue.

The report that Governor Franklin Roosevelt, of New York, has agreed with ex-Governor Al Smith and Chairman Raskob, of the democratic national committee, to make a state campaign this fall on a party platform with a "dripping wet" plank as a preliminary to the presidential campaign of 1932, is hardly credible.

Governor Roosevelt has the reputation of being a wise and well-informed politician. He is not likely to make such a mistake.

They are in a panic over the failure of Hoover and the party to hold the favor of the people, afford relief, prevent business depression and widespread unemployment, and revise the tariff in a popular and not a profiteering form.

They need to get an issue that will override all that and give them a call upon popular support, and many of them believe that repeal of prohibition will furnish them with that paramount issue.

Hoover has been riding backwards. These canny politicians know that Hoover has been riding backwards on the prohibition issue. He has never said anything in favor of the eighteenth amendment or the Volstead act that would lash him to the prohibition cause. He is capitalizing whatever wet sentiment is abroad in the country in the interest of their national party.

1,200 Georgians Don Khaki, Begin Duties at Camp Foster

122d Infantry, "Atlanta's Own," Off to Good Start on Seventh Annual Encampment.

BY W. S. GRIFFIN, Special Staff Correspondent.
CAMP FOSTER, JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—More than 1,200 young Georgians arose at 5 o'clock this morning and found themselves transformed from young businessmen to soldiers, in the service of Uncle Sam, and under the guidance and watchful eyes of regular army instructors. The 122d infantry, "Atlanta's Own" national guard regiment, got off to a good start on its seventh annual encampment under the command of Colonel Gerald P. O'Keefe.

The camp, located a few miles up the St. Johns river from Jacksonville, is ideal in every respect and is pleasing to instructors and officers of the regiment who will direct the vigorous training schedule of the regiment for the coming 15 days. The first morning saw approximately one-half of the regiment on the ranges.

Along with the training and work, however, comes plans for the usual social activities of officers and enlisted men alike. Plans now are under way for the first dinner-dance by the officers to which will be invited national guard officers of Jacksonville and prominent citizens of the city. This affair will be held at the Carling hotel probably Thursday night of this week, with another similar affair next week as well as a stag party in honor of the regular army officer personnel. Unofficial headquarters have been established at the Carling hotel where high officers of the regiment visit and where newspapermen seeing duty with the outfit and others "drop in" when off duty.

Already the regiment is eliciting comment from citizens on the soldierly bearing of the personnel and through-out Sunday and today the camp has been visited by hundreds of citizens. Colonel O'Keefe has stated that visitors will be welcomed at any time during every day and that no special "visiting days" will be designated. "We will have open house all the time," he said, "and we want the Jacksonville people to come to see us and watch our work."

He stated that the first four days of this week will be devoted to firing on the several ranges, and the regular afternoon dress parades will not begin before Thursday. All during next week, however, the regiment will parade at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. After the period of firing is ended the mornings will be taken up in the many phases of training of a military nature, while the afternoons will be given over to organized athletics. Sanitary conditions at the camp have been favorably commented upon by the physicians in the outfit and the health of the men is expected to be better at this camp than in any one of those previously attended, it was stated.

Lindy Purchases Plane for Anne

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(P)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today announced he has purchased an airplane as a gift for his wife, the former Anne Morrow.

The ship, a 110-horsepower biplane, was put through tests last week by Colonel Lindbergh and he expressed particular satisfaction at the ability of the ship to land on a small field. Mrs. Lindbergh received flying lessons from her husband last year at Hicksville, Long Island, when she learned to fly solo. Extended flights throughout the country with Colonel Lindbergh, however, interfered with her obtaining a pilot's license.

She won a glider's license while the Lindberghs were in California early this year.

American Archbishop Dies in Switzerland

GOLDACH, Switzerland, Aug. 4.—(P)—Monsignor Sebastian Messmer, Roman Catholic archbishop of Milwaukee, Wis., died unexpectedly here last night in the little Swiss village where he was born 83 years ago. Death was caused by a heart attack. A solemn funeral will be held on Thursday morning.

ATTACK ON POLICEMAN IS FATAL TO BUTCHER

Shot by Cal Officer Hewell, Jake Minsk, 40, Dies at Hospital.

Jake Minsk, 40-year-old butcher, who operates a place of business at 324 Decatur street, died shortly after noon Monday from bullet wounds inflicted by Cal Officer Odus C. Hewell, who, with his partner, was called to the establishment earlier in the day to settle an argument between Minsk and his brother over the ownership of two cases of soft drink bottles. The butcher is said to have attacked Hewell with a heavy meat knife.

According to sworn testimony at police station by Harry Minsk, 28, brother of the dead man, and according to the written statement of the policeman, Cal Officer Hewell and W. A. Goode were summoned by Harry Minsk, of 306 Decatur street, to help him persuade his brother that two cases of soft drink bottles were Harry Minsk's property. In his statement, Harry Minsk said that Jake Minsk came to his store in his absence and took the bottles, and that as his brother had threatened his life on a number of occasions he sought the aid of police in settling the argument.

On entering the store, according to witnesses, Jake Minsk approached the trio with a heavy meat knife, despite the command of the officers to halt. When he had charged within six feet of Officer Hewell, the latter drew his gun and fired three times, fatally wounding him. Taken to Piedmont hospital, he died at 1:25 o'clock. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the residence, 647 Edgewood avenue, by Rabbi T. Geffen. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery, with Sam Greenberg & Co. in charge.

Guest List Mounts For Sutton Dinner

Fifty more guests have reserved places for the dinner to be given at 6 o'clock Thursday night at the East Lake Country Club in honor of Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of city schools, and recently elected president of the National Education Association, according to an announcement from the committee in charge.

The dinner, at which Eugene R. Black, governor of the Atlanta Federal Reserve bank, will act as toastmaster, is expected to bring out a representative gathering of business and professional people as well as a large number of educators who will gather to pay tribute to their newly elected president.

Campbell Re-Arrested In Baker Murder Case

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(P)—Herbert M. Campbell, real estate operator, was released from the Arlington county (Va.) jail today but was immediately rearrested on a federal warrant charging that he murdered Mary Baker.

The body of the girl, navy department employee, was found on government property near Arlington county cemetery last April. Government experts and Dr. Calvin Goddard, Chicago ballistics authority, have asserted a gun belonging to Campbell was used to kill Miss Baker. Campbell maintains his innocence and claims an alibi.

Dull Colors Mark Clothes For Winter Wear

BY HAZEL REAVIS, Associated Press Staff Writer.

PARIS, Aug. 4.—(P)—The most modernistic of the Rue De La Paix dressmakers this morning told a packed house what she thought about winter styles, saying that she is convinced women do not want to wear longer skirts on the street.

Suits, coats and ensembles for general wear at her house are still at the top of the list, six to ten inches below the knee—depending on the knee. The outlook for a dull winter deepened as model after model from this house was shown. The clothes ran to dull black, navy blue or brown in rough or tufted wool. Wool coats have the same material as skirts or dresses. For warmth there are blouses and vests of leather or washable chambray in white or yellow. They are meant for women motorists, golfers and other sport participants. One modernistic golfing costume has chambray knickers and blouse in one, with a tweed wrap around skirt and short jacket. Patent leather trimmings go to the extent of gantlet gloves.

Fall Against Cabinet Fatal to Young Woman

Mrs. L. P. Patrick, 24, of 302 Courtland street, suffered fatal injury Monday morning when she tripped and fell against a radio cabinet at her home.

According to other occupants of the house, Mrs. Patrick complained of feeling badly after falling against the cabinet and retired to her room, where she apparently fell asleep. Unable to awaken her, those in the house summoned an ambulance and on arrival at Grady hospital shortly before 1 o'clock she was pronounced dead.

Physicians were of the opinion Monday that a brain injury resulted from the fall. Coroner Paul Donohoe was notified and an inquest may be held this morning. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Besides her husband, Lonnie P. Patrick, Mrs. Patrick is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wise; one brother, and five sisters, all of Savannah. The body will be removed to Savannah for funeral services and interment.

Florence Barnes Sets Plane Speed Record

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—(UN)—Florence Lowe Barnes, prominent society aviatrix, broke the women's air speed record today when she flew her powerful airplane at an average of 190.16 miles an hour over a measured mile course.

Mrs. Barnes surpassed the record of 184.5 miles an hour made here by Amelia Earhart, trans-Atlantic flier. The highest speed reached by Mrs. Barnes on any of the four laps was 197.26 miles per hour. She flew her plane 164 feet from the ground after starting with a 1,500-foot power dive. The test was timed by Joe Nikrent, official of the National Aeronautical Association.

Zuta Will Be Buried In $400 Casket

WAUKESHA, Wis., Aug. 4.—(P)—There will be no elaborate gangster funeral for Jack Zuta, slain vice lord of the Chicago Moran-Aiello mob. Isadore Ginsberg, of Midlandboro, said to be Zuta's first cousin and heir to the slain gangster's estate, today purchased a $400 casket in Milwaukee and will start for Kentucky in the morning with the body. Funeral rites, Ginsberg said, will be simple. Zuta's estate was said by authorities to approximate $700,000.

1,000 Frisco Workers Return to Shops

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 4.—(P)—About 1,000 employees of the Frisco railway's locomotive and coach shops here returned to work today after a brief layoff. Officials of the railroad said they were hopeful of preventing future shutdowns this year. It was announced today that clerks throughout the Frisco system had voted against a five-day week if it meant a reduction in pay. The railroad had proposed a five-day week in case future reductions were necessary in the clerical forces.

Biliousness Dangerous In Hot Weather

Don't take any chances with biliousness during this hot weather. For now is the time when it may lead to fever and chills. Folks who try to rely on candy, chewing gum, or syrup laxatives are just wasting time and running "ravage risks." These half-way laxatives are too weak to expel the poisons which cause headache, dysentery, indigestion, sour stomach. What you need is Calotabs, the remedy that you know will remove the cause and stop the trouble before serious complications arise. Calotabs never fail to purify the stomach and intestines. They are your best insurance against chills, fevers and other serious illness. Don't give the poisons a chance to accumulate in your system, but always keep Calotabs on hand and take one as soon as your bowels show the first sign of clogging up. You will be surprised how much more easily you can endure hot weather when your system is freed from weakening poisons. Calotabs are sold at drug stores in 35c and 10c sizes.—(adv.)

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON.

Atlanta spot cotton closed steady, 25 points up to 12.90, last week 12.60, 12.60, 12.60, 12.60, 12.60.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(P)—After showing considerable irregularity during the greater part of the day, cotton advanced sharply today on active covering which was believed to be partly for western account of generally dry weather in the droughty sections of the cotton belt.

The New October contract, which, after selling up from 42.00 to 12.75, eased off to 12.50, advanced to 12.95 in the late trading and closed at 12.92. The recent market closed very steady at net advances of 17 to 28 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 4 points, with a decline of 4 points, with the market paying very little attention to the failure of over-Sunday weather reports to indicate any general rains or showers in the droughty sections. Early offerings were fairly well taken, however, and after selling a few points below Saturday's closing, quotations were steadied up on covering promoted by prospects for continued dry weather in the southwest.

New December sold up to 12.91 and March to 13.18, but the demand tapered off at these figures, which seemed to attract considerable realizing or re-selling by recalcitrant buyers. This may have reflected disappointment over the failure of the weather news to bring in a more active demand and was sufficient to send the market down about 4 to 5 points net lower during the middle of the day. December sold off to 12.75 and March to 13.08, but covering became more active and general buying in the late afternoon and a scarcity of contracts appeared to develop on the advance to 13.12 for December and 13.38 for March. The market closed within 2 or 3 points of the best, with the bulk of the day's business being done in the late afternoon.

Owing to the bank holidays in England there were no cables to influence here either way. The market was opening today. Trading in Liverpool will be resumed tomorrow. No additional private crop condition and indicated yield figures were received, but the official forecast, while for partly cloudy weather, held out no definite promise of showers or rain in Texas and Oklahoma and seemed to reflect some nervousness over the continuance of the drought in the southwest as well as the advance in grain prices.

Port receipts today, 8,990. United States stocks, 1,554,097. Exports today, 5,732, making 9,739 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON HIGHER.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 4.—(P)—Trading was fair in the cotton market today and prices were generally steady and erratic. Liverpool continued closed owing to bank holidays, but the market here opened 3 to 4 points up on the absence of cables.

American Telephone Leads Rise With 6-Point Gain

DAILY STOCK SUMMARY.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(P)—Strength of the grain markets encouraged bullish activity in stocks during the last hour of trading today.

Shares priced, which had declined during the forenoon, bounded upward as wheat soared 4 cents a bushel and final quotations in a wide assortment of issues were 2 to 6 points net higher.

Until bulls staged their demonstration the market was only a repetition of the dull sessions of late last week, and even with the belated rally the turnover was the second smallest in more than two years, totalling only 1,201,800 shares. Sales in the last hour of trading reflected the entire volume of last Saturday's trading.

Wall Street heard some alarming reports from the grain belt, still gripped by the drought, which some crop statisticians had declined to estimate the damage done since their recent estimates of losses were compiled, the news was saying that the seriousness of the situation and traders on the Chicago pit were bidding up the price of grain.

Speculators for the rise put a bullish interpretation on the news, and looking forward some of the old popular favorites, such as Radio, they placed buying orders throughout the list of stocks. Covering shorts found the market thin and prices rose rapidly.

There was some mildly constructive news. Resumption of automobile production in Detroit after the vacation shutdowns stimulated sentiment, and additional support was forthcoming in the announcement that steel operations in the Youngstown district were improving, Republic Steel's July output, for the month of June, totalled 1,201,800 shares.

Optimistic bulls were pleased by the market's ability more than to hold its own during the recent dull trading, pointing out that its action gave evidence of a strong technical position. Prominent stocks were supported in the sluggish selling of the morning and were moved forward briskly when the rally started.

American Telephone was a leader, mounting 6 points in fulfillment of expectations that an advance would follow completion of the new financing. Diamond Match was the day's individual feature, soaring to a new high of 240 and closing 12 points up. Shares like U. S. Steel, American Can, Allied Chemical, Consolidated Gas, Johns-Manville and United Carbon rose 3 to 3 1/2 while A. M. Byers, Bethlehem Steel, Public Service of New Jersey, Western Union, Vanadium, United Aircraft, DuPont, Radio and American Tobacco "B" rallied 2 or more. J. I. Case and Foster Wheeler gained 5 and New York Central, Westinghouse Electric and General Electric 3 points.

Warner Brothers was under pressure in the earlier hours, sinking to a new low of 33 3/4 and then regaining its 2-point drop. Gulf States Steel, which had been under pressure since its takeover of the dividend, Reading lost 3.

Although there was no change in the rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, the market was firmer as the banks called about $50,000,000 in loans. These withdrawals were said to be chiefly for institutions in the West and were being used for crop movements.

The general dullness of the stock market last month was reflected in the report on New York Stock Exchange member loans on collateral. This showed that these borrowings had decreased by the rather nominal amount of $38,000,000 during July, standing at $3,680,482,297 on the last day of the month, approximately half of the total as of July 31, 1929.

Cotton joined wheat and corn in moving higher, closing up 17 to 23 points on covering prompted in part by weather conditions.

Foreign exchanges were featureless, stock and bond markets holding firm. Gold withdrawals amounted to $2,000,000, all for Canada.

VISITORS ENJOY MONTH OF AUGUST IN ATLANTA

Former Atlantans Return
To Visit Relatives Here

The beginning of August finds Atlantans entertaining many out-of-town visitors, many of which are former Atlantans who are returning to visit relatives and friends. Receiving a cordial welcome is Mrs. David McIntyre, of Charlotte, N. C., who is the guest of her mother, Mrs. J. B. Ridley, and her sister, Miss Anne Ridley, at their home on Linwood avenue. Mrs. McIntyre will be remembered in Atlanta as Miss Martha Ridley, one of Atlanta's most popular belles. Visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Aiken at the Georgian Terrace are their daughter, Mrs. Maxwell Long, and her two children, Kitty and Anne Long, of Cincinnati, Ohio. Mrs. Long's husband the Reverend Maxwell Long, very prominent in Cincinnati, being rector of the Church of the Redeemer in Cincinnati. Mrs. Coley Browne and little Miss Zella Browne, of New Orleans, La., are visiting Mrs. Alonzo Richardson at the Piedmont hotel. Mrs. Browne was formerly Miss Eugenia Richardson, daughter of Mrs. Alonzo Richardson and the late Mr. Richardson. Miss Rowena Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Wilson, of Waycross, who with her mother, is at the Henry Grady hotel, and will later visit Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Schanck. Dr. and Mrs. Reid T. Garrett have as their guests at their home on Montelle drive their sisters, Miss Minnie Hicks, of Biscoe, and Mrs. Vardell Williamson, of Greenville, S. C., and Mrs. Williamson's little son, Vardell, Jr. Mrs. Garrett, before her marriage, was Miss Frances Hicks and Mrs. Williamson was Miss Bertha Hicks, of Biscoe, N. C.

Nashville Very Wet
Say Dry Leaguers

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 4.—(AP)—The executive committee of the Anti-Saloon League of Tennessee issued a report today charging that "liquor is brazenly sold and dispensed in scores of places" in Nashville and Davidson county.

The committee, headed by Bishop H. M. DuBose, of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, said the report was the first of a series of monthly statements which they hope to make regarding liquor traffic here.

The report, showing arrests and convictions for June, raps the activity of professional bootleggers.

"On the average, offenders, high and low, especially the high, seem to be beyond the reach of justice," the statement says. "The high brow seem to hold the courts and their officials in contempt."

Miss Emily Baker
Weds Mr. Treadway.

The table was laid with an imported lace cover centered with a silver bowl of garden flowers, with pink blossoms predominating. Silver candlesticks held pink tapers and the favors were tiny brides and grooms. Hand-painted place cards bore the names of Misses Mamie Schwarz, Grace Woolley, Margaret Anderson, Anne Courtney, Mamie Bates, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Borg, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Bates, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Schwarz, Chaplain and Mrs. Charles Enarud, Robert Bates, F. F. Dowdle, Harry McDaniel, Paul Hoper and the hosts.

Mrs. Stanley
And Mr. Squires
Wed at Church

A marriage of interest was that of Mrs. Georgia Rosser Stanley and William Herbert Squires, Jr., which was solemnized at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Rev. V. E. Lanford, pastor of St. John's M. E. church. Last Saturday in the presence of relatives and intimate friends.

The bride was lovely in her wedding gown of egg-shell chiffon with hat and accessories to match. Her corsage was of sweetheart roses and valley lilies. Mrs. Squires is a beautiful young woman, and popular with a wide circle of friends, both here and in Griffin, Ga., where she formerly made her home. Mr. Squires has made Atlanta his home for the last six years and is connected with the Southern Bell Telephone Company.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Rosser, brother and sister of the bride, entertained at an informal reception at their home on Roxboro road. Mr. and Mrs. Squires left for interesting points in North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia. After August 20 they will be at home at 630 Washington street, S. E.

SO MANY WOMEN MAKE THIS MISTAKE

A face powder may be good, but the true test must be your own skin

A face powder of any old texture won't do any longer. Women all over the land have learned from the leading beauty specialists that there are three types of skin—dry, oily and normal and that the powder for one texture type will not suit another. Plough has met this modern demand by creating three types of face powders, each of different texture, and each individually made to meet exactly the needs of those three skin types.

THE PLOUGH FACE POWDER FOR YOUR EXACT TYPE OF SKIN WILL GIVE YOU GREATEST BEAUTY

If your skin is oily, use heavy texture Plough's "Incense of Flowers" Face Powder in the oval box, 75c.

If your skin is dry, use light texture Plough's "Favorite Bouquet" Face Powder in the square box, 50c.

If your skin is normal, use medium texture Plough's "Exquisite" Face Powder in the round box, 50c.

Each of these Plough Powders come in five modern tints—white, flesh, pink, brunette, sunken. Plough's Three Face Powders are sensibly priced—wherever beauty creations are sold.

If you are not certain as to exactly which Plough Face Powder gives the greatest beauty to your own skin, write Peggy Martin, Plough, Inc., Memphis, Tenn., specifying the tint you want and you will receive absolutely free generous test packages of the three different powders.

Underarm Odor-Perspiration cost you frocks and friends!

ODORONO keeps the underarms dry and odorless

Odorono Regular (Ruby Colored)
Odorono Quick-Drying Mild (Colorless)

COUNT the cost—to yourself—of this social handicap...offensive underarm odor. It repels those you wish to attract!

The cost is high, too, in perspiration-spoiled gowns...in dry cleaning bills.

Save yourself embarrassment...and money, by using the ruby colored Odorono twice a week at night. It diverts perspiration... keeps the underarms always dry and odorless.

Or if in haste, use the colorless Quick-Drying Mild for one or two full days' protection. It's quick... use it any time—as you dress.

Men find it useful, too! Get Odorono where toilet goods are sold, 35c, 60c, $1

CARL J. COSTER DIES

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 4.—(Special).—Carl J. Coster, 52, proprietor of Adamson-Coster Dry Cleaning Company, of Atlanta, died at noon Monday at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. A. B. Peck, of 733 North Fourth avenue, Knoxville.

Mr. Coster came to Knoxville, accompanied by his wife and daughter, to spend his vacation. He became ill and died suddenly.

The body will be sent to Atlanta for funeral and burial Wednesday.

Coster was a native of Sweden. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ann Kinzel Coster, and a daughter, Miss Dorothy Coster. Two sisters and a brother, also in the United States, and several other relatives in Sweden also survive him.

For centuries the Huicholes have lived undisturbed in the wild interior of Nayarit, constantly moving about in search of escape from death, which they fear more than any other

JIM THE CONQUEROR

By PETER B. KYNE

Thirty-Eighth Installment.

"You stay where you are, girl," Ken Hobart commanded. "My other five men will be riding down the hill pretty soon. You tell them my orders are to charge the men with the sheep immediately."

"What are you going to do, Mr. Hobart?"

"I'm going to join Julio, and the two of us will advance along the south side of this valley toward the water hole. The range will be too long for the herders with the sheep to stop us, I think. Jimmy needs help mighty bad, so Julio and I will furnish what we can. Adios!"

He galloped diagonally across the valley, motioning for Julio to join him. The boy did not hesitate. Roberto watched them in an agony of apprehension, until presently her ears caught the sound of increased rifle fire, but closer at hand. The herders with the sheep were firing at Hobart and Julio, Ken had stated that the range would be too long for effective fire by men not versed in the science of accurate shooting at extreme ranges, but nevertheless the girl saw Julio's pinto go down, saw the boy shoot out over the animal's neck. He was up instantly and back beside the horse.

"Getting his rifle," Roberto thought, Ken Hobart had pulled up and was riding back to Julio, who, in turn, was running to meet him. There was not an instant's pause in the stride of the horse, yet Julio mounted double behind Hobart, the horse whirled, and the daring pair were on their way again.

There, alone at the foot of the hill watching this drama, Roberto cried out in agony when Ken Hobart's horse went to its knees, rose again and stood still. Even one so unversed in warfare as Roberto could realize that the poor brute had been hit and crippled. She saw Hobart and Julio dismount and, kneeling some 20 feet apart, open fire on the distant herders as calmly as if shooting at a mark! And then, over the crest behind her came the five men detailed to follow Ken Hobart. They came down the slope at a fast gallop, spurred on by the sounds of conflict in the valley below, but slackened speed as they sighted the girl, holding up her hand in a signal to halt.

She trembled so she could hardly speak coherently. "Don Jaime—engaged at the water-hole with 10 men—Ken Hobart and Julio over south—shooting at the herders—Ken says—rear attack."

The three American riders gazed at her, not quite comprehending, desirous, perhaps, of receiving more explicit instructions in such an emergency. "What are you standing there for?" Roberto cried hysterically. "Follow me, I'll show you." Across the northern flank of the valley they raced, the patter of rifle fire from the herders probably drowning the sound of their thudding approach, for they were within a hundred yards of the nearest men before the latter saw them. One of them fired at Roberto. . . . She thrilled with a cold fear and a wild exaltation as the bullet whistled past her head. . . . afterward she had a faint recollection of a dark, frightened, but defiant face that loomed for an instant in front of her before she rode the man down. Pistol shots. . . then a backward look. Behind her the five rode with upraised pistols, flourishing them at her, yelling a fierce approbation of her leadership. The sheep, in panic, fled wildly, leaping over each other, bleating, leaving a cloud of grayish white dust behind them. Roberto rode into that cloud—rode through the fringe of stragglers, knocking them down, leaping over and among them. Her horse, plunging and swerving, was striving, with common sense rather uncommon in a horse, to avoid the woolly bodies under his feet, and Roberto was forced to ride as she had never ridden before. Pistols popped behind her. She was clear of the sheep. Her dull little riding-academy spurs prodded her mount's flanks; the quirt rose and fell. . . .

She caught the gleam of sunshine as the last level rays of the dying day were reflected on a pool. Among some rocks beyond the pool three figures moved, the crackle of fire grew louder; she could discern the sharp, spiteful reverberation of it now. Where was the coral? Wherever it was, it could not be far distant. . . . Don Jaime was there, wounded, dying perhaps. . . .

She saw it—a circle of boards, nailed so close together that the fence appeared like a wall. Straight at it she drove her mount, realizing vaguely as she did so that it was a hurdle at least a foot higher than she had ever faced in sport. . . .

She saw her horse's ears flicker, felt his stride slacken a little; then his head shot forward and his ears came up straight. Good horse! He was not going to refuse the jump! She felt him gather himself for the leap, and took a firm grip on the reins.

"Alley oop!" she cried. While in midair she saw Don Jaime off on the right flank, standing in the bed of a wagon, firing over the fence; then she was over and inside the corral with him.

"Jimmy!" she shouted. He turned, staring at her amazed. Then he jerked the bolt of his Springfield and yelled:

"Down! Flat!" She rode up to the wagon, slipped off, pulled the rifle from the scabbard and untied the cartridge belt from her pommet. Then, with a slap on her horse's rump, she sent him trotting across the corral.

And then Don Jaime leaped down at her, his powerful arm swept her backward and off balance; she slid to the ground and he threw himself beside her.

"Oh, sweetheart, why did you come?" he almost moaned. "Because I love you, Jaime Miguel Higuera. You are in danger and I couldn't stay away. I'll help you, Jimmy. If you have to die I want you to know before that happens—that life without you will be desolate." (Copyright, 1930, for The Constitution.) (Continued Tomorrow.)

'BITSY' WINS FIRST WATCH AT SOUTHAMPTON

TED GOODRICH CLOSING WORK FOR ALGERS GO

Atlantan Confident of Success in Bout Here Tonight.

Ted Goodrich, one of the most colorful fighters ever developed in Atlanta, closed out his training yesterday for a 10-round bout with Billy Algiers tonight at the city auditorium.

Irritable and finely drawn after a long period of gymnasium work, Goodrich, bluntly said: "I'll knock him out" by way of a statement as to how he felt about his comeback bout.

Algiers, a rugged and rather battered pugilist who has fought more top-notchers in the welterweight division than Goodrich, said: "I'm not worried about Whozie"—meaning Goodrich presumably.

The two principals in the first boxing show here in several months, as well as the participants in the other bouts on the 28-round card will meet in the office of the boxing commission physician at 2 o'clock this afternoon for examination and weighing-in.

And from then until 8:30 o'clock, Goodrich will wait quietly at home for what he considers the biggest test of his career as a boxer.

STARTS ALL OVER.

The Atlanta man who climbed into the first division of the welterweights on the strength of a right hand that struck as fast as a rattler and as powerful as the kick of a kangaroo, is starting all over again in his quest for the title championship.

That same Billy Algiers, pale and crafty, knocked Ted Goodrich out several years ago in a Florida ring. Goodrich has that score to settle with tonight. Then Goodrich expects to land a match with Sammy Baker and wipe out that mark.

Atlantans who flocked to see Goodrich last year when he was up and coming will come back again to the wind-cooled auditorium to see him start all over again and wish him well.

SEMI-FINAL.

The semi-final bout is between Jack Tunney, of Birmingham, and Joe Knight, of Cairo, Ga. They are two young light heavyweights both of whom have fought here and both of whom have gotten a good start in their division. It is a bout that another promoter tried to land as a main event not long ago.

Prospects are that the Goodrich-Algiers fight will be short; both men are hard hitters and each will try to end it quickly as possible. But Tunney and Knight are certain to put on a slugging mill that will please every ring fan who likes his boxers to be sluggers, too.

Matchmaker Max Abelson thinks he has assembled the fastest collection of preliminary fighters ever offered on an Atlanta card. The boys have been carefully matched to produce the best possible ring entertainment.

The complete card follows:

Main event, Ted Goodrich vs. Billy Algiers, 10 rounds.

Semi-windup, Jack Tunney vs. Joe Knight.

Six rounds, Johnny Ritchie vs. Billy Carter.

Six rounds, Tiger Mott vs. Claud Pitman.

Six rounds, Clint Townes vs. Jimmy Reid.

Substitute match, Battling Maddox vs. Frankie Allen.

Entry Disqualified After Great Race

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(AP)—History was written on the Saratoga turf today when the Harry Payne Whitney entry of Angry and Promethee was disqualified after running one-two in the Seneca claiming stakes. It was the first time in years that an entry has been set back after finishing one-two.

The honor of officially winning the six-furlong feature went to the Sagamore stable's Al Green, a 10 to 1 shot. E. R. Bradley's Ride A Wee was given second with third going to Gifford A. Cowhan's Hand to Hand, both of which were outsiders in the wagering.

There was a lot of crowding as the barrier let the large field of three-year-olds loose. J. A. Cohn's Yankee Doodle fell. The Whitney horses were held responsible even though they went on to win handily. Angry finishing a length and a half in front of his stablemate and Promethee leading Al Green by a half-length. The decision of the stewards was a popular one as evidenced by the cheering, when the unofficial numbers were replaced by the official figures.

Bob Has Carded All Golf He Wants

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 4.—(UN)—Play in the amateur and open tournaments in England and the United States will be all the competitive golf Bobby Jones wants this year, he wrote W. H. Bradshaw, president of the Jackson Country Club today.

"Further than actual loss of time involved, there is the added fact that I am now a bit jaded with golf," Jones wrote. "I expect to be absolutely fed up on the game by the end of September."

Bradshaw had invited Jones to enter a golf tournament here.

Mr. Ted Goodrich

Might as well stage the national open golf championship over a Tom Thumb course as attempt to play a ball game in that band-box park at Nashville.

The lurid details of the Cracker-Vol game yesterday are evidence enough that baseball in Nashville is a farce that has gone entirely too far.

Our side won—but who wants to win ball games like that? It is nothing more nor less than a burlesque.

Home run after home run slammed over a right field fence that is only a high fly from the plate completely upsets values in the game.

The game no longer is baseball; it is competitive fungo hitting.

Thirty-seven home runs were hit in the Nashville park in nine days of play. A Nashville ball player of ordinary ability has broken all records for home run hitting in the Southern league by lifting high flies over the fence; 90 per cent of these would have been easy outs in any other baseball park.

A national open golf championship played on a Tom Thumb course would break low-scoring records for all time.

Men would score 49-43-48-42—182 for 72 holes of play.

That would not mean a thing. It would be a joke. Baseball games in Nashville are no more extravagant.

Southern league directors should blush with shame at allowing such a ball park to exist.

HACK AND MACK.

Gene McEver and Buddy Hackman, seeking "Bonesetter" Reese in Youngstown, Ohio, to have their knees repaired found him away on a vacation in Atlantic City.

Last word from them was that they had gone on to Atlantic City hunting for him. The lads are having a tough time and must be needing treatment.

Bill Rollow, in the Nashville Tennessean, says of their troubles: "Their knees have caused me much anguish and misery and have lost me money, but it would be a tragic thing for Hack and Mack to be slowed up with just one more year to play. I hope they get well."

EXHAUST FANS FOR FIGHT SHOW.

Max Abelson dropped in last night in the course of his rounds checking up on advance ticket sales for the Goodrich-Algiers boxing bout he is sponsoring.

Max, unused to the heat that is generated in a newspaper office by the assortment of machines and the lack of windows through which a breeze could circulate, if there were any breeze, mopped his lofty brow.

"You can say for me that everybody who comes to the auditorium Tuesday night to see Ted Goodrich fight had better wear a string on the straw hat to keep it from blowing off," he said. "The auditorium is cooled by a cold air fan that will blow hats every which way; it is the coolest place in town, I mean."

OVERLOOKS NOTHING.

Leave it to Max to dig up the last word in ballyhoo. He has enough of a show with two such slashing fighters as Goodrich and Algiers and two such strapping youngsters as Jack Tunney and Joe Knight in the principal bouts to attract a crowd if the fight were held in a tobacco barn.

It is quite probable that the main event will not go far. From all that can be gathered, Ted Goodrich is going after Algiers with a rush either to land a knockout or go down himself.

Goodrich is burning to get back in the rarefied atmosphere of the top floor of the welterweight section. He plans to waste as little time as possible.

CHEERING SECTION.

Ring fans evidently are worked up over Ted's comeback. Herman A. Neal, 724 Pryor street, speaking for his section, writes:

"With the Goodrich comeback set for a comparatively few hours off, ringsiders are wondering what Atlanta's own will do. If we give Ted the encouragement and response accorded Walther, Cobb, Pond, Jones, Grant, and others of our champions, Atlanta can enjoy the fruits of another victorious campaign. Georgians are entering every field and this is our lucky year. Let's put Ted Goodrich where he belongs if our moral support is all that is needed. Thanking you in advance, I remain, etc."

PRAISE FOR GRANT.

Donald Grant, the Vanderbilt tennis star and who has been playing at Sea Bright, N. J., in discussing the Davis cup situation, says:

"Everyone has been talking Vines up for Davis cup prospects. A very peculiar thing is that Vines' partner, Keith Gledhill, can beat him about four out of five times on a harder surface. And since the Davis cup is now being played on clay, it would seem more feasible to mention someone that is outstanding on clay, like, for example, Bryan Grant, Jr., who takes them all down very easily on clay, but who is not nearly so good on turf courts."

Stribling-Sharkey Go Possible, Carey Says

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—(AP)—William F. Carey, president of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, said he discussed the possibility of a 5-round bout between Young Stribling and Jack Sharkey in New York next September with Johnny Buckley, manager of the Boston heavy-weight, today.

Carey, who came here to confer with directors of the Boston Garden, said that Sharkey was willing to meet Stribling on a percentage basis. Buckley and Carey will renew their discussions in New York next week, when Stribling is expected home from England.

Stribling and Pa Sail Wednesday.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Willie Stribling and his father-manager will sail Wednesday for New York. Sporting Life says they will be accompanied by Promoter Jeff Dickson, who hopes to arrange a fight in England between Stribling and Strling, whose stock in the pugilistic market took a sudden rise with his recent two-round knockout of the English champion, Phil Scott.

Pa Stribling and Dickson are expected to confer in New York with Joe Jacobs, who handles the German boxer's affairs.

"I believe the logical match now is the meeting between Sharkey and Stribling," Carey said. "Sharkey and Stribling should be brought together in the ring as soon as possible. The winner of the match would be the man to go against Schmeling in a title contest next year."

"I believe September the time for this bout. Under such conditions the tussle should be staged in New York."

ACES DEFEAT GAINESVILLE, MACON WINS

Bunts Give Atlanta 17-6 Verdict; Cedartown Falls, 13-11.

By Roy White.

Atlanta's Grant Park Aces and Macon won their games Monday in the first round of the annual Georgia American Legion junior baseball championship series at Spiller field. The Central City team rallied in the closing innings to beat Cedartown, 13 to 11, and Atlanta's Aces staged a ninth-inning spurt to beat Gainesville, 17 to 6.

In the semi-final round today, three games will be played instead of two. The Decatur Barons and the Albany Elks will meet at 10 o'clock at Spiller field and the Aces and Gainesville will play their game over at 10 o'clock at Clay field. The winner of the Clay field game will play Macon at 3 o'clock at Spiller's in another semi-final game.

A protest was filed by Gainesville on the eligibility of Appleby, the Ace catcher, on the grounds that he had played with another Atlanta team this year. Major Trammel Scott, state Legion athletic director, disqualified Appleby at the Monday night banquet at the Ansley hotel and the two teams will play the game over this morning, necessitating a double-header for one of the teams today.

WILD AFFAIRS.

Both the Monday games were wild, free-scoring affairs. Cedartown had a lead of 10 runs on the Macon team but when the dust had cleared and the youngsters had ceased their yelling, Macon was on the long end of a 13-to-11 count.

Bunts and Reeves were the hitting stars with five and four hits, respectively. Calhoun also helped the winners with three safeties. Cedartown's hitting was well divided except for Alred, who secured a triple and two singles to lead the team.

DIVIDED STYLES.

In the afternoon game there were two styles of play on both sides. Gainesville's pitchers were off to a rocky start but pulled out with only three runs against him in two innings. Eaves started off strong and let the visitors down with two hits in six innings, but he blew up like a balloon in the seventh.

After that fatal seventh it was a slugfest with ragged fielding. A good ball game had been turned into a riot of base hits.

That seventh was a disastrous round for the Aces. Three timely bingles, one a double, an error and a walk gave Gainesville five runs and a score before Ed Copeland was first victim popped a foul back of third. The next man hit a fly to the outfield and a runner was doubled off second base.

UP AND DOWN.

It was three strikeouts for Gainesville in the eighth and a double was the only damage in the ninth. Excellent pitching for Copeland in the three innings he worked.

An Ace bunting attack scored 11 runs in the ninth. Eaves, Finch and Copeland parried the attack enough to secure long safe hits which aided materially in shoving runs across the plate.

Six hits, three through weak infield taps, a base on balls, two perfect sacrifices and two errors won the ball game for the Aces. But it was of no avail for another would be played this morning.

23 Children Burned In Movie Film Fire

SAO PAULO, Brazil, Aug. 4.—(P)—Twenty-three children were burned, 10 of them critically, after their clothing had caught fire from a motion picture film at a children's show this afternoon.

The children had paid 3 cents each to attend the show given in the home of Carlos and Armando Solinachi, who used a small projector.

One child struck a match and ignited a pile of films in a corner. The inflammable material blazed up and their clothing caught fire. Both the Solinachi brothers were burned trying to beat out the flames.

REGENSTEIN ROBBERY SUSPECTS ARRESTED

William R. Eary and His Wife To Be Brought Here
From Savannah.

A man and a woman sought by police for questioning in connection with a $1,200 safe robbery at the J. Regenstein Company's store, 209 Peachtree street, on June 12, will be brought here today or Wednesday from Savannah, Chief of Detectives A. Lamar Poole announced Monday.

Three suspects, Don Harjo, William R. Eary and Mrs. Daisy Eary were taken into custody by Savannah authorities almost a month ago. Harjo, according to telegraphic advices Monday, has been indicted there for assault with intent to murder and burglary, but the Earys will be turned over to Atlanta officers, it was reported.

City Detectives W. W. Ford and W. D. McGee said Monday night that photographs of the trio had been identified by a taxi driver who drove the pair to Columbus less than an hour after they were alleged to have cracked the Regenstein safe. Local officers traced them throughout the state for several days after the robbery but had lost the trail until Savannah police nabbed them.

Chief Poole said Monday that he had learned no details of the charges which the Savannah police have lodged against Harjo. He said that he had been advised by John Foy, Savannah police commissioner, that William and Daisy Eary were being held only in connection with the local investigation.

Council Votes Pension For Miss Susie Battle

Miss Susie H. Battle, a teacher in the Atlanta public schools for 41 years, Monday afternoon was voted a pension by general council. The pension takes effect September 1. Miss Battle was elected an assistant teacher at Walker Street school in June of 1889, and after teaching in a number of different schools, went to Girls' High school in 1925, where she has remained until the present time.

Sport Tickers Barred From Pool Parlors

A new poolroom and billiard parlor ordinance, substituting for the proposed law by Councilman Chester McLenon which would have barred lunch counters from the poolrooms, Monday afternoon was adopted by city council. The new ordinance, by Councilman Joe Berman, does not refer to lunch counters in poolrooms, but it does bar baseball and other sport tickers.

SIX NEW WHITEWAYS ARE FOUGHT IN COUNCIL

Papers Authorizing Installation of 182 Poles Referred to Finance Committee.

Papers authorizing installation of 182 whiteway poles in six sections of the city Monday afternoon were referred to the finance committee of council, after meeting with stiff opposition on the ground that the $14,000 a year required for operation of the lights is badly needed elsewhere.

The proposed whiteways include: Peachtree street from North avenue to Fifth; 44 poles; Virginia avenue and Highland avenue, 12 poles; Georgia avenue between Capitol avenue and Pryor street, 50 poles; Carnegie Way from Forsyth to Spring, 20 poles; Hunter street, 10 poles; and Washington street from Trinity to Central, 40 poles.

The double exposure camera places its identical impressions on the film in "staggered" formation. This feature, Spoor said, gives the illusion of depth on the screen.

The new film will run through the projection machine at a speed at which the individual pictures will merge. Souther registrars are made on the edge instead of the surface of the film. By January 1, Spoor said, a process by which natural colors may be combined with depth by the new camera will be perfected.

Spoor was president of the old Esanay Film Company during pioneer motion picture days in California.

White Plains Jail Wired for Radios

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Aug. 4.—(P)—The $800,000 Westchester county jail, for which contracts are being awarded today is to be wired for eventual installation of both radio and television sets in the cells.

This was done because some of the persons held in the county jails were material witnesses, confined through no fault of their own, and it was felt that they were entitled to such entertainment as could be given them.

Auditorium Repairs Costing $3,883 Sought

Repairs for the auditorium armory, to cost $3,883 under an estimate by City Building Inspector C. J. Bowen, Monday were referred to the finance committee of council for a recommendation. The repairs were proposed by Alderman R. F. Pennington, of the first ward.

More Funds Sought For Warden's Office

Money to carry the city warden's office during the balance of this year and an audit of the warden's funds were requested of council in a paper presented Monday by Alderman G. Everett Millican, acting mayor, and referred to the finance committee.

Millican said that the warden has requested that the city pay more than $1,838.70 to the department. He said that the warden's funds are exhausted and that he has no applications already on file for aid.

Cut in License Cost For New Firms Asked

A saving to new business houses on licenses would be effected by a proposed amendment to the city license ordinance offered Monday in council by Alderman R. F. Pennington, of the first ward. The amendment would allow new business firms to pay an amount equal to only one-half the remainder of the year, instead of being taxed for the full quarter when the license application is presented some time after the first part of the quarter. The paper was referred to the ordinance committee.

Vaudeville Actress Held as Shoplifter

Mildred Sterling, 18, of Los Angeles, who, police say, opened a vaudeville engagement at a local theater Saturday, was arrested late Monday by detectives on a charge of shoplifting. Sterling, Gresham and E. B. Clark, of the Stores Mutual Protective Association, said they found two stolen dresses valued at more than $100 on Miss Sterling's person. She was released after posting $200 cash bail pending a hearing this morning in police court.

Mrs. J. B. Duckworth Passes in Liverpool

Mrs. J. B. Duckworth, of Liverpool, England, mother of Mrs. H. B. Duckworth, of Atlanta, and grandmother of Joseph B. Duckworth and Hubert B. Duckworth, of the Curtis-Wright Flying Service branch, at Candler field, died at her home in Liverpool Monday.

News of her mother's death was received by Mrs. Duckworth by cable late Monday afternoon. She was the widow of J. B. Duckworth, who had many friends in America and the south, through his connection with the cotton business at Charleston, Savannah, Macon and other points. He died in 1912.

Negro Bequeaths $100,000 to Village

MAYS LANDING, N. J., Aug. 4.—(P)—John Underhill, negro storekeeper, has returned to the form of a $100,000 bequest the pennies that his child customers spent with him for a quarter of a century.

Although Underhill died in October, the terms of his will were not made known until today. It provides that an estate amounting to $173,500, exclusive of real estate, shall be devoted to improvement of the town park and to equipment of the high school gymnasium.

Underhill came here more than 25 years ago and for many years was the town's only negro resident. He first became a barber and later opened as the "New York of the south," and is universally liked for his philanthropy and when he died citizens erected a monument over his grave. Tablets will be placed in the park and gymnasium in recognition of his gifts.

E. M. Barnes Is Named As License Inspector

Appointment of E. M. Barnes to succeed R. E. Howard as a city license inspector was announced Monday to council by City Clerk J. Henderson. Barnes also announced the appointment of Lowry Arnold Sims as license clerk to succeed Mrs. Scott Little.

Film Pioneer Claims Depth For New Movies

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—(P)—George J. Spoor, pioneer in the motion picture industry, announced today he had perfected after 14 years of experimentation a process by which the stereoscopic effect of natural vision is given to the screen.

The first public exhibition of the new film was announced for September 15 at a theater here.

A camera with two lenses, both of which record impressions on film through a single aperture and new methods of development, projection and sound recording are features of the process.

The double exposure camera places its identical impressions on the film in "staggered" formation. This feature, Spoor said, gives the illusion of depth on the screen.

The new film will run through the projection machine at a speed at which the individual pictures will merge. Souther registrars are made on the edge instead of the surface of the film. By January 1, Spoor said, a process by which natural colors may be combined with depth by the new camera will be perfected.
